Vichy Assures U.S. Axis Gets No More Help

WASHINGTON, March 27.—United States relations with Vichy are on the mend, an authoritative source disclosed today, and practically all the questions which recently brought the two governments to the verge of a diplomatic rupture have been cleared up.

Most important among these questions were:

1. An incident involving the appearance of a German submarine at Fort de France, Martinique, late last month, to put ashore a wounded man in need of surgical attention.

2. Shipment of food and trucks from metropolitan France to Italian forces fighting in Libya.

3. Transfer of aviation gasoline from French stores in North Africa to Italian bands in Libya.

4. The movement of the French 26,500-ton battleship Dunkerque from its North African base across the Mediterranean to Toulon.

Definite and categorical assurances have been received from Vichy clarifying all of these ques-

Japanese fleet movements in the Indian Ocean suggested today that a new storm may be brewing far north of the Australian war theatre as Japan's invasion armies exerted fierce pressure to knock out Chinese defenders of Burma.

Burma is the gateway to both India and China.

Indications that Japan may temporarily have switched her greatest pressure from the Australian to the Burma-India theatre were seen in a marked decrease of Japanese aerial thrusts against the "down under" commonwealth and in the reported presence of Japanese warships in the Indian ocean.

SMART NAVAL FORCE

British headquarters in India said a Japanese cruiser and several destroyers had been sighted in the waters around the enemy-occupied Andaman islands in the Bay of Bengal, within striking distance of Calcutta and other Indian bases.

Simultaneously, the Tokyo radio reported the arrival of Japanese fleet units at Rangoon, Burma.

The presence of two Japanese naval forces in the north suggested that Japan may have shifted them from Java, New Guinea and the southwest Pacific to start a new phase of operations.

In the battle of Burma—the critical struggle for the eastern gateway to India—British headquarters reported that severe Japanese pressure was failing upon Chinese forces cut off from the north at Toungoo, on the Rangoon-Mandalay road.

BLOCK WITHDRAWAL

Japanese troops were said to have blocked the Chinese route of withdrawal eight to 12 miles north of Toungoo.

Hard-hitting "Flying Tigers" of the American volunteer group struck 70 miles deep into neighboring Thailand to blast Japanese airfields at Chiengmai and Lampun, destroying more than 10 enemy planes.

In the dwindling battle for the approaches to Australia, Allied fighter planes swiftly broke up the 20th raid by two Japanese bombers on Port Moresby, in southern New Guinea, shooting down one in flames and driving the other off before it could inflict any damage.

Dispatches from Port Moresby said Japanese troops driving down into southern New Guinea had "been halted" after a 27-mile advance from Lae.

Intensified German air attacks on Murmansk, Russia, Arctic port of entry of vital supplies from the United States and Great Britain, indicate growing concern over the effect this Allied aid may have on the projected spring and summer campaign against Russia.

The aid is going through, despite Hitler's severe submarine campaign in the Atlantic and even though, as Prime Minister Churchill said, the situation in the battle of the Atlantic has "worsened."

The importance of aid to Russia has been newly emphasized by President Roosevelt, who has called on department heads in Washington to speed up delivery and give Russia all the essential materials promised. It is not new.

It is becoming apparent that Hit-

President Of Philippines Now In Australia

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, Australia, March 27—(CP)—President Manuel Quezon, of the Philippine Commonwealth and the Filipino war cabinet, have arrived in Australia to rejoin Gen. Douglas MacArthur, it was announced today.

Quezon

Col. Le Grande Diller, Gen. MacArthur's spokesman, added that the Quezon party already had arrived in Australia.

It was stated that since the beginning of the war Quezon had been receiving his governmental functions in close co-operation with Gen. MacArthur and had been located at the General's headquarters.

The government will be continued, it was explained.

The president was accompanied to Australia by his family as well as by members of his war cabinet.

President Quezon's whereabouts since he left Manila prior to the Japanese occupation of the city, Jan. 2, have been an official secret. He has been mentioned from time to time in dispatches referring to his temporary capital "Somewhere in the Philippines."

High Rate Not Collected On Timber Berths

The Alberta government at no time endeavored to collect $3 per thousand feet from licensed timber berth operators, Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, declared Friday when commenting on a timber licensee dues judgment handed down in supreme court Thursday by Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor.

(The judgment held that a $3 rate on Dominion-licensed berths would be prohibitive and therefore ultra vires of the province. The jurist held that it was within the power of the province to vary by regulation the rate of timber dues charged on such timber leases provided such dues were not prohibitive.

(It was also held that a rate of $1.75 as set out by a provincial order-in-council was valid.)

STATEMENT

Mr. Tanner's explanatory statement issued Friday follows:

Rumania Demands Outlet To Aegean

A catalogue of claims on Bulgaria, I learn, was handed by the Rumanian minister in Rome to Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano barely a fortnight ago. This document recalled the services Axis behalf by Marshal Ion Antonescu's government. It stated that the Rumanian coastline, not only on the Black Sea must be complemented by an outlet to the Aegean through Bulgarian territory.

Rumania's claims which Italy was asked to support, included:

1—A corridor from Rumania to one Aegean port, through Bulgaria.

2—Free zone for Rumania in Salonika, with transportation facilities.

3—Common occupation, with Bulgaria, of the former Greek Dindus region, where a Rumanian minority is said to live.

An Editorial

Debt Refunding Necessary

INTEREST on Edmonton's debt of $26¾ millions at more than 5 per cent makes necessary a tax rate of at least 51½ mills. This means that the homes and business property of our citizens are being destroyed as investments.

Five per cent interest, on the best security in Canada, is an absolute outrage. Three and one-half per cent would be a high rate on Edmonton bonds. The taxpayers are therefore paying about $500,000.00 annually in excess interest charges.

Some may say we have already had the Fortin Refunding Plan. But the Fortin plan did not provide for the reduction of a single penny in interest charges on any of our existing bond issues. It was simply a debt extension scheme, which extended the debt term to thirty years, with a minimum interest rate of 4½ per cent. In other words, as the different bond issues mature they are extended at 4½ per cent interest.

The civic authorities should demand of the Bond Dealers' Association in Toronto a fair deal and, failing that, lay their case before Finance Minister Ilsley and Graham Towers, Governor of The Bank of Canada, who have power to provide the remedy in the public interest.

The city utilities are turning in a million dollars in profits per year and the city employees are certainly not being overpaid.

The city's bankers charge no more than 4 per cent on short term loans.

R.A.F. Carries Out Heavy Raids

LONDON, March 27.—(CP)—British bombers attacked German Ruhr industries in force again overnight, struck at enemy airdromes in Holland, an oil refinery near Ghent and the docks at Le Havre, the air ministry announced today. Loss of 13 bombers was announced.

The air ministry said Ruhr Valley targets, under aerial fire for the second night in succession, were bombed heavily.

Essen, home of the Krupp munitions works, which was smashed in a fierce attack two weeks ago, before the weather-enforced lull, was believed to have been the main target of the R.A.F.'s big bombers.

CONVOY ATTACKED

During a thrust against bases in German-occupied territory "our fighters destroyed an enemy bomber in air combat," a communique reported. In addition, it said, "an enemy bomber was destroyed over this country last night."

Britons Desire Winant's Return

By HELEN KIRKPATRICK

Copyright, 1942, by the Chicago Daily News and The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, March 27.—(CDN)—The highest tribute ever paid to an American ambassador is the anxiety of everybody here, from the man-in-the-street to government officials, lest John C. Winant should not return to London. Reports from Washington suggest that he has been urged to take a cabinet post.

Newspaper editors, charwomen, cabinet ministers and factory workers have all expressed, during past days, the hope that Ambassador Winant will come back. He has come to represent here all that is the best in America. His sincerity and his belief in real democracy have been recognized by thousands who have only seen his pictures, read his infrequent speeches and heard him on the radio.

Grapevine views travel fast in Great Britain and they have conveyed to a large number of the British public what all kinds of ballyhoo was not able to do for some of Winant's predecessors.

EXCLUSIVE

Those who know what goes on behind the scenes believe that the ambassador has saved Anglo-American relations from going on the rocks many times. They believe that his firmness, his loyalty to his convictions and his "Americanism" will be needed often in coming days.

Many admit that the United States way well wish such a man in the government, but all hope that he will return to the job here which is a very big job and which he has so far performed with a minimum of fuss.

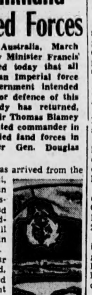

Gen. Blamey To Command Allied Forces

CANBERRA, Australia, March 27—(CP)—Army Minister Francis Forde announced today that all of the Australian Imperial force which the government intended to bring back for defence of this continent already has returned, and that Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey has been appointed commander in chief of all Allied land forces in Australia under Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Gen. Blamey has arrived from the Middle East where he was in command of Australian forces and deputy commander in chief of all Allied forces in the Middle East.

Maj.-Gen. Sir James Morshead, who was knighted for his brilliant defence of Tobruk, has succeeded Gen. Blamey in the Middle East.

Gen. Blamey who said Australians must be prepared to expect invasion and to do everything to prevent it, will meet Gen. MacArthur at the first possible moment.

Gen. Blamey

He hailed Gen. MacArthur's appointment as Allied supreme commander as the only workable arrangement.

"I am very delighted that the whole Anzac (Australian-New Zealand) command has been given to one man," he said, "thus giving united direction to the whole strategy of the situation."

States Slashes Tea Consumption

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP)—The War Production Board today ordered United States tea consumption cut in half to conserve dwindling tea supplies.

The order was intended, the board said, to stretch the stocks of tea on hand in this country on Jan. 1—which it was said would have lasted 18 months unless restricted —to a full year's supply.

The order does not take into account tea received at a normal rate from the Far East during January and February, and W.P.B said there was "reason to believe" that tea would continue to enter this country in ships returning from voyages taking military supplies to the western Pacific.

Brigadier Topp To Get New Post

OTTAWA, March 27.—(AP)— The department of national defence in Ottawa today announced that Brig. C. B. Topp, Lt.-Col. Milton Gregg, V.C., and Lt.-Col. N. C. Sherman, all of Ottawa, are among a large group of officers and men arriving today in Canada from England.

Brig. Topp has returned to Canada to take a special army appointment. He commanded an all-Ontario infantry brigade in Britain.

Lt.-Col. Gregg is the House of Commons sergeant-at-arms now on leave of absence during his military service.

A defence headquarters spokesman said that among those returning were instructional personnel assigned to duties at army training centres, while others have been appointed to new units.

Capt. J. R. C. Carler of Edmonton arrived with the troops, but inasmuch as he had been in his home, he will go to Halifax to meet his wife, who is returning from England by a different route. "I'll be glad to get home for a spell," he said, "but it won't be right away."

Prince Rupert Will Get New Highway Link

OTTAWA, March 27—(CP)—A road construction program which will link the port of Prince Rupert, B.C., with the highway system of British Columbia is to be undertaken with all speed by the Dominion government, it was learned today.

Officials estimated about 105 miles of new road construction would be required to complete a connection between Prince Rupert and Prince George, thus giving a road outlet to the coastal city now served by a northern branch of the Canadian National Railways running west from Red Pass Junction, B.C.

Under existing plans the road from Prince Rupert will have no connection with the proposed Alaska highway, as United States engineers are to start construction work on this military road at Fort St. John, B.C. northeast of Prince George.

CANADIAN PROJECT

To obtain direct connection with the prairies, it will be necessary to build a new section in addition to the Prince George-Prince Rupert route. The eastern section of this road will be a Canadian project, although it was conceded in official quarters that road projects in this area may have importance in the defence of the entire northern territory in which both Canada and the United States are interested.

F.D.R. Speeds Up Aid For Russians

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(AP) —The White House disclosed today President Roosevelt had ordered a first priority on shipments of war supplies to Russia, and had told the War Production Board and the United States army and navy to release such supplies as soon as possible.

The President, in a letter to Rear-Admiral Emory S. Land, war shipping director, said he had found "that our greatest shipments to Russia are still far behind" and that he wished "to emphasize again to you that the meaning of the Russian protocol shall have a first priority in shipping."

The letter was dated March 17 the White House said.

At the same time he told Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, that he wished all supplies promised Russia under her protocol agreement with this country released for shipment at the earliest possible date.

F.D.R. Promises New Zealand Aid

WELLINGTON, N.Z., March 27. —(CP) — Prime Minister Peter Fraser said yesterday he had received messages from President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill indicating "a great measure of support" is forthcoming for New Zealand.

OTTAWA, March 27.—(CP) — Justice Minister St. Laurent announced today three Alberta acts, passed by the provincial legislature in 1941, had been disallowed and a fourth referred to the supreme court of Canada.

The acts disallowed are the Debt Proceedings Suspension Act, 1941, the Orderly Payment of Land Debts Act, 1941, and the Limitation of Actions Act, 1935, Amendment Act, 1941.

Referred to the Supreme Court was the Municipal District Act Amendment Act, 1941.

The Debt Proceedings Suspension Act empowers the province in certain circumstances to prohibit the bringing of any action or other proceedings relating to debts contracted prior to July 1, 1936, for a certain period to be specified in the order-in-council. Debts incurred since July 1, 1936, would not be affected by any such order-in-council.

Orderly Payment of Land Debts Act is an act to prescribe a plan according to which debtors, both farmer and urban, under mortgages of land and agreements for sale of land shall for the limited period fixed by the act make payments to their creditors, and to further provide that so long as payment is made according to such plan no action can be brought to enforce the terms of the mortgage or agreement for sale.

The Municipal District Act Amendment Act, 1941, amends the Municipal District Act. One of the main sections of the 1941 legislation is the provision of machinery for the amalgamation of two or more municipal districts or improvement districts to form larger districts.

Limitation of Actions Act, 1935, Amendment Act, 1941, changes the period within which an action must be brought upon judgments, mortgages and agreements of sale from 10 years to six years.

Russians Land Behind Nazis' Lines In North

MOSCOW, March 27.— (CP)—Russia declared tonight that Russian troops had been landed from warships of the Red fleet behind the German battlefront in a big surprise movement on the far northern Murmansk front.

It said the Russian landings caused "great confusion" among the Germans.

Dispatches from the Arctic front yesterday told of a raid by 66 Germen planes on Murmansk, but said 11 were shot down and that no damage was done to the important port.

Islands yesterday afternoon and scored hits on a medium-sized supply ship," the ministry said.

A high-flying German formation, hidden by haze, made a brief thrust toward the southeast coast today, but was driven off.

The British aerial offensive apparently was well under way again.

The raiding force last night reportedly included four-engine bombers capable of carrying tremendous two-ton explosives.

The plastering they gave the Ruhr was described unofficially as on much the same scale as the night before when perhaps 250 heavy bombers participated.

HIT FRANCE, ITALY

Starting Wednesday night when hundreds of bombers raided the Ruhr area in one of the mightiest air stabs yet made on Germany, the Royal Air Force also flew over France and Italy and continued through daylight with a bombardment of German shipping in the French port of Le Havre. Many Canadians were in the force that attacked the Ruhr and St. Nazaire, Nazi submarine base on the French coast.

It was pointed out the R.A.F.'s attempts to "flatten" the huge Krupp works came just when production of tanks and munitions of all kinds are needed vitally for Nazi spring operations.

Squadron after squadron of heavy bombers, loaded with everything from incendiaries to the tremendous two-tonners, were said to have been sent against the Ruhr.

Cpl. G. M. Herbert, who has performed duties as a medical clerk in the R.C.A.F. recruiting office here for the past eight months, was wearing a broad smile on Friday.

He always wanted to be an airplane pilot. But when he joined the air force 14 months ago, regulations governing enlistment of student pilots were very stiff. In particular was this true in respect to educational equirements.

So Herbert had to enlist as a clerk.

But now he's getting his big chance. Friday he will report at No. 4 Initial Training School to start a course as a student pilot.

He will lose temporarily, the rank of corporal and revert to that of aircraftsman. But he's mighty happy about it just the same.

tensively. The new, daring thrust seemed aimed at freeing it still further from the growing German threat.)

Elsewhere today, Red army soldiers recaptured another community on the central front, cut more deeply into Smolensk province and won a battle of tanks to beatride approaches of a large southwestern city.

(Reports reaching London declared the Germans were fortifying Kiev and blasting the Dnieper river ice on its eastern flank; that Russians had broken into Nazi defences around Gzhatsk; that Red air force planes had heavily bombed survivors of the beleaguered German 16th army at Staraya Russa.)

Tass announced counter-attacking tanks, seeking to hold up the Red army advance on "a big populated centre on the southwestern front," were routed by Russian armored units and artillery after eight German machines had been destroyed and three captured.

"Our troops are now in the approaches to this important centre," the Soviet military said.

Tass did not identify the city. The heaviest fighting south of Moscow recently has been reported about Orel, a German-held railroad town; Kharkov, the Donets basin industrial centre; and, Tuapsnog, right anchor of the Germans' mainly line.

The officers to command the various units announced at headquarters today have not yet been named.

Gratification was expressed at the news of the 19th Alberta Dragoons mobilization by Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., Area Commandant.

"I am pleased that a unit with such a fine fighting name of 27 years' spread over a long period of years, should be selected for this task.

"It congratulate the officers, noncommissioned officers and men on their selection and wish them the best of luck."

Similar sentiments were expressed by Capt. E. W. Kelly, adjutant of the 19th. "While we have not been officially notified of our selection, we are highly pleased," he said. "The regiment has a splendid record of service and the spirit of all ranks is that the best traditions of the regiment and the Canadian forces as a whole, will be fully maintained."

tions, it was learned. The government of Marshal Petain pledged itself not to permit in future any Axis warship or airplane to enter French ports or territorial waters in the western hemisphere under any pretext.

Assurances were given that shipments of food and trucks to the Italians in Libya would be stopped, also that there would be no further transfer of Axis aviation gasoline from North African stores into Axis hands. In connection with the Dunkerque incident renewed assurances have been given that no part of the French fleet will be allowed to come under Axis control.

Discussions still are continuing with Vichy as to possible resumption of food and other shipments to French North Africa for the use of the native population.

Those shipments from the United States were abruptly discontinued several months ago when Gen. Maxime Weygand was removed as chief administrator in North Africa, presumably under German pressure.

British Patrols Raid Enemy Post

CAIRO, March 27.—(AP)—British patrols advanced 40 miles in Libya to inflict casualties on Axis troops in a fortified post at Halegh El Alebea, between El Mechili and Tmimi, British general headquarters announced today.

The raid was carried out the night of March 25-26.

The main force of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's African army is strung out along the line between Tmimi and El Mechili. Halegh El Alebea is "about 40 miles from the nearest point in our advanced positions," the communique said.

Daladier Relates How French Army Trapped By Nazis

RIOM, Unoccupied France, March 27.—(AP)—Former Premier Edouard Daladier described to the Riom court today how the Germans led the French army into a trap by withholding their aerial attacks until Allied troops had advanced into Belgium in May 1940.

At the same time, the newspaper L'Avenir, published in Vichy, defended continuation of the trial of five defendants charged with responsibility for France's military defeat and criticized those it termed "interested belittlers."

Reinforcements Leave The City

A group of 30 reinforcements for the 96th Anti-Tank Battery, R.C.A., left Edmonton Thursday to join the unit, now on service elsewhere in the Dominion. The group was under the command of Capt. H. Doucette.

Visibility of citizens driving cars in Edmonton's west end was ostensibly hampered by a smoke screen emanating from muskeg fires just out of the city limits during Friday. The smouldering muskegs are situated along the Jasper highway in the Winterburn area. The pall of smoke spread in lesser quantities to other parts of the city.

Accused Airman Is Committed For Trial On Murders

LONDON, March 27. — (CP) — Frederick Cummins, 28-year-old R.A.F. aircraftman, was committed today for trial at Old Bailey on four charges of murder and two charges of attempted murder after a preliminary hearing of accusations that he was the Jack-the-Ripper slayer of at least four women in London's west end.

He was arrested after thousands of police and Scotland Yard experts combed London for a killer whose attacks night after night had spread terror throughout the blacked-out city.

Nazi Army Told Hold All Bases

BERNE, Switzerland, March 27.—(AP)—The German army after its steady winter retreat has been ordered to hold its present Russian bases at all costs and safeguard the supply lines over which new material must be moved up laboriously from the spring offensive Berlin correspondent of the Neue Zuercher Zeitung reported today.

He said the whole German supply system has been modified, with a separate transit organization relieving the Todt engineering units of all but front line work. Every available reserve not needed in the fighting lines was reported helping move supplies eastward across Poland and captured Russian territory.

The correspondent named Taganrog, Kharkov, Kursk, Orel, Vyazma and Staraya Russa as the hard-pressed advance key points the German army was ordered to hold as bases for the spring offensive.

Cripps Confers With Gandhi On India Proposals

NEW DELHI, India, March 27.—(CP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi, Indian leader, conferred this afternoon with Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's special representative.

The Nationalist leader came here from Wardha to meet Sir Stafford, entrusted by the British war cabinet with seeking unanimous Indian acceptance of Britain's proposals for greater autonomy for India and Indian support for Britain's war effort.

Gandhi And Cripps Appear Cheerful After Conference

NEW DELHI, March 27.—(BUP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi and Sir Stafford Cripps emerged smiling but silent after a 90-minute conference today.

Both men appeared cheerful but gave no hint of the trend of their discussion concerning British plans for political concessions to India.

As cameramen took pictures and newspapermen clustered around, Gandhi said: "I take my silence now."

(Gandhi follows a regimen under which he takes regular periods of complete silence and contemplation.)

The commander was Lieut. J. D. Maitland, Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.

REPORTS FROM BERLIN

Boris To Break With Russ

Democracy Must Strike Now Says W. D. Herridge

OTTAWA, March 27—(CP)—W. D. Herridge, originator of the New Commonwealth movement and former Canadian minister to Washington, on his return from Britain today issued a statement in which he declared "democracy must strike now. We dare not wait until 1943."

"Canada must play a leading part in democracy's counter-offensive," Mr. Herridge said. "The Canadian Corps is overseas to join the armies of the Middle East and fight in Libya. It should have done so a year ago. Or the Canadian Corps can set out to build the road to Berlin. It should begin with raids on the coasts of France and Belgium, great raids, small raids, constant raids. The Canadian Corps must rail to the limit of its capacity."

OFFENSIVE ACTION

The Canadian Corps must be reorganized for offensive action, the speaker said. "An attacking force is only as strong as its reinforcements. An army cannot fight effectively unless it can instantly make full use of the advantage of battle. The plain fact is that today there are not enough reinforcements to maintain the army we now designed in sustained action.

"All formations over and above the 1st and the 2nd infantry divisions and the 1st armored division must be broken up to provide the required reinforcements for battle," Mr. Herridge added.

While the government was right in mobilizing for the defence of Canada it "will be eternally wrong" if it permits such mobilization to imperil the strength of the Canadian corps."

"Canada must have a corps that is ready to fight now, that being the talk of building the corps into an army is sheer midnight madness."

SLAP IN FACE

Already" frustration has the corps by the throat," he said. "Has the passivity of the corps become a slap in the face to and that the Canadian Corps was essential to the defence of Great Britain. That is not true today. Nor has it been for a year or more. In fact the stupid fiction is a slap in the face of the courage of Britain and the intelligence of Canada."

The great majority of the Canadian soldiers in the United Kingdom were straining towards the battle front, eating their hearts out for action.

"The passivity of the Canadian Corps helps no one but the politicians and the brass hats. It brings unearned credit to the one and unearned promotion to the other."

ASKS QUESTIONS

Mr. Herridge asked why the government sanctioned the creation of more divisions than it can reinforce. He added: "What control does the government exercise over the passivity of the Corps? What control does the British war office exercise over the operations of the Corps? Has the war office ever requested, formally or informally, that the Corps or any part of it should engage in active operations? If yes, what reply was given and why? Why are such great numbers of Canadian officers and men backstopping to Canada?"

Parliament should debate these questions fully and freely he said. "For the first time since the war began the people of Canada should be told what it is all about.

Another Attempt On Life Of Deat Reported By Huns

LONDON, March 2.—(CP)—Reuters quoted a German broadcast today as saying an unsuccessful attempt was made last night on the life of Marcel Deat, French collaborationist, in Paris.

A bomb was said to have been thrown at Deat while he was addressing a meeting but it was a dud. He was unhurt.

Last August, he was shot at Versailles and dangerously wounded during the same assassination attempt on Pierre Laval.

Deat, president of the pro-collaboration National Popular Party, was in a hospital for nearly two months.

Onus Is Lifted In Death Probe

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

GRANDE PRAIRIE, March 27.—A coroner's jury under provincial coroner Dr. E. A. Braithwaite of Edmonton, investigating the death from scarlet fever in the municipal hospital isolation ward here of Mrs. Ruth Irving on Jan. 19 last brought in a verdict stating they were unable to determine when or where the disease had been contracted.

The investigation was the result of charges laid with the provincial department of health by D. Allison of Appleton, father of the deceased, that his daughter had developed scarlet fever while a patient in the hospital. Mrs. Irving was admitted to hospital as a patient for an operation on Jan. 9.

Because medical testimony showed that the period of incubation for scarlet fever varies with different people from one to four days or longer, the jury was unable to state definitely that the disease had been contracted in the hospital. Mrs. late woman's husband and two brothers are with the Canadian forces in England.

Agitation for an isolation hospital for treatment of contagious diseases which has been going on for years, has so far met with no success. The matter rests with the municipal hospital district and not the town.

Service Costs

OTTAWA, March 27. — (CP) — Canada's military forces now overseas are expected to cost $404,765,183 in the 1942-43 fiscal year, and forces to be sent overseas this year will cost $135,374,238, Defence Minister Ralston said in the House of Commons Thursday night.

High Rate Not Collected On Timber Berths

much as the article is entirely misleading. I felt, is necessary to make the following statement:

At the time the natural resources were transferred from the dominion to the province the stumpage rate was $1 per thousand on licensed berths. At this time the price of lumber was depressed. Owing to the fact that lumber prices were much improved and operators of provincial permit berths were paying $3 per thousand stumpage, the government passed regulations on July 28, 1940, changing the method of disposing of licensed berths and bringing the dominion berths more in line with provincial berths, to be effective in April, 1941.

Representations were made to the government complaining that the licensed berth holders should not pay $3 per thousand as was being paid by the holders of permit berths. Accordingly an order-in-council was passed on May 30th, 1941, bringing the rates to $1.75 per thousand, and upon demand by the province for payment at this rate the operators sought a declaration from the courts as to the validity of the action taken by the government.

DID NOT COLLECT

Though the judge held that a $3 rate on the dominion-licensed berths would be prohibitive, and, therefore, ultra vires of the province, it should be pointed out that at no time did the province endeavor to collect at this rate. The judge, however, did hold:

1—That the province had power to fix timber dues on the renewal of a timber license.

2—That the rate of $1.75 as set out by Order in Council is valid.

Gigantic Nazi Spy Ring Said Smashed In Brazil; 200 Operatives Arrested

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 27.—(AP)—Police Chief Filinto Muller announced Thursday night that a "gigantic" Nazi spy ring centering in Rio De Janeiro had been smashed with the arrest of 200 operatives and the seizure of four powerful secret radio stations.

The official report charged that the Nazis had been using this capital as a world clearing house for espionage.

It declared that war secrets from the United States, Britain and many other nations had been spirited here in complete detail.

The information from various sources was assembled and analyzed here, and the most important conclusions and deductions were forwarded to Germany, the official report said.

NEED SPECIAL CAMP

The wholesale arrest of undercover agents necessitated the opening of a new concentration camp.

It was established on Flores Island in Rio harbor.

Local jails already were overcrowded with "more than 100" Axis spies taken in the accelerating drive on fifth columnists in Brazil, which broke relations with the Axis powers late in January and since has lost five or more ships to Axis torpedoes in the Atlantic.

The spy ring was described as principally active in reporting ship movements and military activities.

RADIO TECHNICIAN CAUGHT

One of those arrested was identified as Niels Cristien Cristiensen and described officially as "one of the most famous of German radio technicians."

He was charged with possession of 11 detailed reports on vessels in Rio harbor and with having a quantity of spy reports on microfilm.

The house Cristiensen occupied in Le Blon, swank Rio beachside suburb, had a radio transmitter with a range of 9,250 miles and materials indicating Cristiensen was the director of the entire spy ring.

TIPS ON SHIPS

First clandestine radio discovered in daily contact with Berlin was under direction of Friederich Kempter, whose job was to send information on movements of shipping.

Bataan Troops Confident 'Mac' Is Coming Back

By FRANK HEWLETT

WITH GEN. WAINWRIGHT'S ARMY IN THE PHILIPPINES, March 26.—(BUP)—(Delayed)—United States and Philippines troops, tempered in the fire of months of battle to a steel-strong barrier against the Japanese, have set themselves the goal of holding out in Bataan until Gen. Douglas MacArthur comes back.

Their morale is sky-high and in Lieut.-Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, now in command, they have a scrapping leader who is second in their affection and admiration only to MacArthur himself.

Wainwright

Officers and men alike believe MacArthur is going to send reinforcements to them and that he will lead an American army back to the Philippines. For that reason, the effect of MacArthur's departure has been to encourage them to hold on.

One commentator was a typical member of the Philippine Scouts, one of the tough, hardened men of that crack Filipino organization which for years have been a unit of the United States regular army.

"We can and will hold out until MacArthur comes back with our reinforcements," he said.

Huns Said Ready To Strike Turks

JERUSALEM, March 27.—(CP)—All German troops available in all the Balkan countries have been concentrated in Bulgaria and Greece, and the Germans are "feverishly preparing to attack Turkey the beginning of April," reputedly well-informed Balkan circles reported today.

Hitler even has recalled the last three German divisions which had been kept in Yugoslavia for a year and has dispatched them to Turkish borders, these sources said.

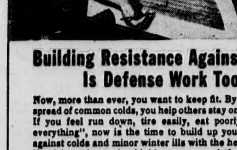

It was reported further that Hitler had compelled the Croatian government to call all classes from 1887 to 1913 to the colors today, ordering death as the penalty for disobeying the conscription call.

The by-election was necessitated by the elevation of Sir Victor Warrender, Conservative, to the peerage. Sir Arthur was nominated by the Conservatives to take Sir Victor's place. The vote was 11,758 for Kendall, 11,391 for Sir Arthur.

Reserve Army Now Open To Receive Married Men Between 30 And 35 Years

OTTAWA, March 27.—(CP)—Married men between 30 and 35 years of age will be permitted to enlist in the Reserve army under an order just being issued, Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons Thursday night.

Today's War Moves

ler will have to knock Russia out as an important war factor this year if he is not going to lose the war. Russia, the only nation conducting a damaging land offensive against him, stands as a barrier to his plans for conquest of the Middle East and its oil fields.

The Red Army has demonstrated that it cannot be immobilized. Hitler cannot stabilize the front there with a holding force while he turns the main body of his war machine in another direction. Ivan Maisky the Soviet Ambassador in London said on Wednesday that Russia has taken the initiative from Hitler and has no intention of relinquishing it.

Maisky observed further that the Allies are preparing to win the war in 1943, but argued that this decisive turn can be reached this year on the Russian front if the United Nations throw in everything they have while Hitler still is on the defensive.

Russia's trump card in the war against Hitler is almost unlimited manpower. All the men Hitler can bludgeon from the reluctant subjugated nations of southeastern Europe cannot match it in numbers nor, apparently, in fighting spirit.

RUSSIA HAS MEN

Russia has the men. What she needs is the tanks, planes and guns to offset German superiority in that respect. The fact is fully appreciated in Washington and London, as shown by Mr. Roosevelt's latest order.

It is principally the job of the United States to supply that material. Britain's task is to keep the northern route to Murmansk and Archangel open by her fleet and air force. The American navy provides protection to Iceland, a key outpost of the war when W. D. Kendall, a "hometown" Independent, defeated Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Longmore by 367 votes in the Grantham division of Lincolnshire.

DEPEND ON BRITAIN

Much depends on Britain's ability to keep the German fleet units now assembled in Norwegian waters bottled up there. If it gets on the loose, the Northern supply route to Russia would be gravely endangered.

The northern route is much shorter and more efficient than the long trip through the South Atlantic. Around South Africa and up the Indian Ocean to the Persian Gulf. Moreover, the southern route may be endangered if the Japanese break through to Ceylon and start operating in the Indian Ocean.

For some time past enlistments in the reserve army have been limited to men under 19 years of age and between 35 and 50 years. The minimum age for men in the latter class who are single will still be 35 years, on the theory that men under that age should serve in the active army.

Replying to a suggestion from Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South) the minister said it might be a good idea to make single men from 30 to 35 years liable to compulsory call under the National Resources Mobilization Act. Amendments to the regulations announced this week raised the age class for compulsory call to include single men and childless widowers from 21 to 30 years.

The reserve army was essentially a "citizen army," said the minister. It's function was to defend the homes of the people in the localities in which its units were located. While it might sometime be necessary to use compulsion to get men into the reserve army, that was not desirable at this stage.

He appealed to all members to support the reserve army and the brigade groups now organized for it in each military district. These groups had permanent headquarters staffs for administration and training but it was not proposed to organize all reserve units in brigade groups, he said.

Howe Will Clear Uncertainty Over New Speed Limit

OTTAWA, March 27.—(CP)—A spokesman for the munitions and supply department said yesterday that Munitions Minister Howe will make a statement within the next few days clarifying the restriction of speed limits throughout Canada to 40 miles an hour.

Premier Hepburn of Ontario said in Toronto yesterday he was "dumbfounded" to discover the 40-mile-an-hour speed limit was a matter for enforcement by the province and not by the Dominion as a war measure act.

In a broadcast address last Monday night Mr. Howe announced that all provinces had agreed that maximum speed limits should be limited to 40 miles an hour.

OTTAWA, March 27.—(CP)—The marriage of Canadian members of the fighting forces in the United Kingdom to British girls continue at a rate of about 400 a month, a government official said today. The total since the first Canadians arrived overseas now is about 4,000.

NOT DEMOCRATIC

Coldwell Protests Use Of Orders-In-Council While House Sitting

OTTAWA, March 27.—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. house leader, protested in the Commons Thursday night against introduction of the government's extended national selective service program by order-in-council rather than by a bill introduced in parliament.

Total war involved mobilization of resources as well as manpower, he said.

"I hope the determination we have seen from time to time here to defend private enterprise in the midst of this war will not work to the detriment of our war effort," he said.

The practice of the government taking sweeping action by order-in-council while parliament was in session was objectionable, he said. Some policies might have to be brought in quickly, but if so, a period should be set aside immediately for their discussion in parliament. The manpower measures affected the lives of all the people and should have come before parliament.

NEED SPEED UP

It might be time to revise the rules of parliament so that discussion of such policies in parliament could be followed through but just as free as at present. The British parliament functioned well in wartime and some of the British rules might be adopted in Canada.

There should be a more democratic control of mobilization. Organized labor and agriculture should be heard. If approached in the proper way, mobilization under a Democracy could be just as complete as, and more effective than, under a totalitarian system.

Paul Martin (Lib, Essex East), the next speaker, said he endorsed what Mr. Coldwell said.

NOT TOO LATE

It was not too late to furnish the representation to which labor was entitled and the representation which should be accorded farmers, he said.

Defence Minister Ralston said the very fact Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, labor minister, was chosen to administer the whole mobilization scheme was a recognition of the importance of labor and the desire to make it a partner in the war effort.

Freighter Runs Down Axis Sub

NEW ORLEANS, March 27.—(AP)—The U.S. navy today announced that an American freighter on Feb. 18 ran down and sank what presumably was an enemy submarine in the Caribbean, and that despite an intensive 10-hour search no survivors were found.

Lt. Cmdr. Henry Johnson, United States naval reserve, captain of the ship, said that in total darkness and late at night his ship sighted a form ahead 20 seconds before the collision. There was a light flashed from the object, which was partly submerged.

The freighter then crashed into the object head-on with a heavy jolt and passed over it. Before the ship could turn about members of the crew heard a heavy explosion, presumably a torpedo, and heard screams. Two men were believed sighted in the water.

The freighter returned to the spot for about 2 hours searching for survivors. None was found.

The Tax Rate

City taxpayers will of course be relieved to know the tax rate for 1942 is to be no higher than it was last year, 51½ mills. That it would be lower there was no expectation, while a half-mill increase had been rather definitely indicated as in prospect.

It is fair to note that in holding to this rate, council is figuring closely. The budget predicts only a small surplus, so small that one unforeseen demand may turn it into a deficit when the year is up. Even so it is better to take the risk and avoid the discouraging effect of increasing the rate while there is a chance of breaking even.

And there is also a chance that, instead of circumstances turning the trifling anticipated surplus into a deficit, they may work the other way and enlarge it. Revenues from the utilities and other branches may prove to be more elastic than is now supposed. And it is not impossible that economies may be found to be possible here and there which are not now apparent.

Because a certain sum is placed in the estimates for a certain purpose it does not necessarily follow that all the money must be spent. The actual outlay during a year is not determined by the budget made up while the year is young, but to a large degree by the care with which expenditure is watched during the following months. With so small a surplus in prospect, it will be the duty of council to guard against exceeding estimates, and to spend something less than these provide for if and where that is found to be possible.

Little Ships Against Big Ones

Mussolini's navy has done it again. It sallied out in strength to sink a convoy headed for Malta, but was chased away by a flock of small cruisers and destroyers and ran for home under cover of night—with a torpedo-hole in a battleship and the plating of that and other heavy ships pock-marked by shells from the popguns which had not force enough to penetrate the armor.

The engagement is rated as one of the most remarkable in naval history. The battleship mounted 15-inch guns, and two of the accompanying cruisers 8-inch guns. With the further advantage of high speed, which the designers have given all modern Italian ships, these should have torn the little attackers to pieces. But they sank none of the wasps, and none of the convoyed merchantmen, though they stuck to the job more resolutely than is common.

The battle was significant in one respect, aside from the immediate results. The British squadron apparently had no air protection, while Axis planes, including dive-bombers, were present in numbers, and had to be fought off during and after the naval engagement. But the little ships emerged with minor damages. Had they been battleships the result might well have been the same as when the Prince of Wales and the Repulse were caught by Japanese aircraft without any "ceiling".

Speed and manoeuverability give small warships an advantage alike against larger antagonists and against torpedo-planes. They can dodge—and keep shooting while they dodge. From the River Plate to the Mediterran this has been demonstrated to the enemy's cost.

The Moisture Supply

Weather records dating back to last August show that rainfall and snowfall have been farther below normal in central Alberta than in any other section of the west. The deficiency here to the end of February is put at 15 per cent. In both northern and southern Alberta the precipitation was well above the average.

Saskatchewan was less favored than this province. In the northern and southwestern areas of that province the moisture supply fell 10 per cent and 14 per cent respectively below normal, while in the southeastern area the average was just maintained.

Manitoba received 29 per cent more precipitation than usual in the western division, and 28 per cent more in the eastern.

Taking the provinces as units, Alberta shows no change from normal. Saskatchewan shows a decrease of 5 per cent, and Manitoba an increase of 28 per cent. The increase in Manitoba is accounted for mainly by very heavy rains which fell there during the fall months.

These figures may not correctly indicate the relative amounts of moisture remaining in the soil on the eve of seeding, since the run-off may have varied widely due to the uneven freezing of the ground. But it seems probable that in central Alberta and other areas where the fall was less than average the moisture content is also below normal. That undoubtedly is true in and around Edmonton.

Against hasty conclusions that an unfavorable season is in prospect, is to be placed the well established fact that spring moisture is by no means a sure indicator of crop returns in this part of the west. Ample rains in late May and the two following months have often produced splendid crops here in years when the seed went into exceptionally dry soil. The same is measurably true of the prairie region generally.

Stiffening The Defences

Some days ago it was announced that Canada's defences on either coast, and in Newfoundland, had been placed each under a single command. The inference was that more attention was to be paid to strengthening our coastal defences, and this is verified by the statement of Prime Minister King on Wednesday.

Two new divisions are to be organized as mobile defence units, composed of men called up for training under the Mobilization Act. These will supplement the sixth division of the active army, now in Canada. In addition of course will be the units of the Reserve army, now being recruited up to full strength in Edmonton and elsewhere. And as supplies become available land, sea and air mechanized equipment will be put in defence service.

This news will be welcomed very heartily by people living in the coastal areas, and it is to be hoped by inland dwellers as well. It surely can no longer be supposed anywhere that residents of our seaboard provinces are needlessly alarmed at the possibility of air raids, or even of an invasion of British Columbia.

On the east coast and in Newfoundland invasion can hardly be apprehended, but nuisance raids by carrier borne planes are by no means impossible there, if even improbable. On the west coast invasion is not only possible but fairly probable should the Japanese succeed in capturing Australia—or should they decide to halt operations there and make a quick try to force the United States into peace on the basis of things as they stand.

These protective measures are being taken none too soon. It may be supposed that, for obvious reasons, the measures were well under way before the news was given out. It is to be hoped such is the case.

—V—

Reports that Halifax is overcrowded have evidently not been exaggerated. Civic authorities there are proposing that families of men in service look for living quarters in neighboring towns. Since the city benefits greatly through the spendings of these temporary residents, the proposal would not be made if conditions were not congested to the "saturation" point.

—V—

Seizure of the Andaman islands by the Japanese forces marks the extension of the war into the Indian ocean. The intention may be to use these as a base from which to bomb the Allied forces in Burma. But it may equally be that this is the first step in a planned immediate invasion of India. Tokyo has thus far shown no inclination to restrict its ambitions, and the situation in India at present offers a better opportunity than could be looked for later. News of air raids on Calcutta will not therefore be surprising even if they come soon.

MacArthur's Feat

Details of Campaign That Won Renown For General

By HAROLD L. WEIR

So much attention has been aroused in General MacArthur's success in the Philippines—a success that elevated him to command in Australia—that there is given herewith a more or less haphazard analysis of his feat.

Gen. MacArthur's tiny and gallant army that fights on in Bataan peninsula is one of the reasons that competent military authorities assign for the fact that landings in force have not already been made by the Japanese in Australia.

Harold L. Weir

The defence of the peninsula, barely 30 miles long and only half as wide, has been heroic in the finest traditions of any army in the world.

It has evidenced a rare combination of courage and skill and leadership in face of overwhelming odds. And on the immensely practical side of the ledger, it has made Manila Bay, the Orient's best harbor, unusable for the drive to the south, an advantage on which the Japs had apparently counted heavily.

How Gen. MacArthur was able to hold off the initial thrusts, how he refused to be decoyed out of positions, how he inflicted amazing losses on his attackers, and how he then skillfully withdrew when the giant trap that had been prepared for him was about to clamp shut is a story that cannot yet be told in detail, but its general features now can be revealed.

Most Brilliant

Military experts predict that the campaign will be listed among the most brilliant in the world's long history of war. It is remarkable first, they say, for the orderly withdrawal under long and continuous attack, an action the rule-books teach is impossible except with the most seasoned troops. MacArthur had some of them, but he also had others that were "very green".

In the second place, Gen. MacArthur apparently evolved a successful method of dealing with Japanese infiltration, the Indian warfare of the jungles that worked miracles for the Japanese in the Malay peninsula but has stolen from no one plane under similar conditions in Bataan.

Gen. MacArthur solved the problem of the withdrawal by a series of concentric lines, when it became necessary to save his army from destruction with the resultant loss of the last outpost in the Philippines. Every foot of ground was fought bitterly and with heavy losses to the attackers, but the Jap advance kept stumbling over these rapidly prepared positions.

Five Phases

The Philippine campaign which brought Gen. MacArthur's troops to the Bataan peninsula as an organized army still able to hold off their numerically superior attackers, falls naturally into five phases.

The first phase lasted three days, beginning with Dec. 7 and, like the treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor, was chiefly an air operation. Air fields throughout the archipelago but principally in Luzon were the targets.

The authoritative Army and Navy Journal admits that the Japanese objective of "weakening American air power" was "attained" with little regard for their own losses. The Japanese simply waited in the skies until United States fighters and bombers were forced down for fuel and supplies and attacked them on the ground.

Gen. MacArthur, as closely as can be established in the absence of full reports, had concentrated his limited forces along the west coast of Luzon from Manila Bay north through Lingayen and to a point beyond San Fernando and along the shores of Tabayas Bay and Lamon Bay on either side of the narrow link of land that connects the two parts of the island, southeast of Manila.

Aerial Attacks

Shrewdly avoiding either of these areas and hoping, apparently to pull the American forces north of the mountain barrier that extends roughly west from San Fernando, the Japanese began the second phase of the assault, Dec. 10, with landings at Vigan on the northwest coast.

What was left of the American air force bombed and harassed these landings, and it was in this fighting that the Japanese battleship Haruna was sunk, north of the island.

MacArthur refused to be pulled out of position, and only local ground forces were involved.

Japanese aerial attacks continued for the next 10 days, while the Jap troops, many on bicycles, turned south from Vigan along the coastal road. Parachutists according to one army spokesman, occupied airports near Tuguegarao and Ilagan, opening the way for an advance from Aparri down the lush Cagayan valley. In those bitter first two weeks 26 major aerial attacks were made, Gen. MacArthur reported.

Armada

In the dim morning light of Dec. 22, a huge armada numbering about 80 transports, appeared off Lingayen Gulf and opened the third phase of the campaign.

All the landings except one at Agoo were beaten off, but at Agoo the Japanese were joined by the invaders coming south from Vigan and were able to turn east towards the force advancing in the Cagayan valley.

Meanwhile, the thing that the Japanese hoped would destroy the American armies before they reached Bataan was being set. Near Atimonan on Lamon Bay, southeast of Manila, heavy forces were landed on Dec. 23. Others arrived the next day at nearby Mauban and between them cut through to Tabayas Bay, forcing the defenders north and west. Some of the most bitter fighting of the campaign occurred in this area, according to the reports.

By Jan. 1 MacArthur reported that "all available defending forces are now united." Naval units had destroyed the base at Cavite and moved to the island fortresses that guard Manila Bay.

The following afternoon the Japs entered the capital city, almost unopposed. Manila had fallen, but Manila Bay was still protected and the way to Bataan peninsula was not cut off.

Disappointment

Japanese disappointment at the escape was plain. On Jan. 5 the Philippine headquarters, now moving with the armies, reported one of the heaviest actuals of the war, a frontal assault on the lines northwest of Manila.

More than 700 Japs were killed in one section, it said.

For the next two months the line was relatively stationary.

In what is the fifth phase of the fighting currently it extends from a point north of Abucay, on the peninsula's east coast, west and south to a point midway between Mariveles and Bagac.

No figures of MacArthur's strength have ever been disclosed, but the Japs are believed to have used more than 200,000 crack troops in the effort, so far futile, to dislodge him.

The number is several times that of the American and Philippine forces.

Thompson Deprecates Imperial Dispute

Says Curtin's Attitude "Sets Her Teeth on Edge"

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

A quarrel in our ranks at this moment sets the teeth on edge. I refer, of course, to the quarrel of Mr. John Curtin, Prime Minister of Australia, with Winston Churchill. And it is difficult to see just why Mr. Curtin chose to publicize it in quite so flamboyant a manner. In this quarrel, unfortunately, Mr. Churchill has been assigned by Churchill to a seat in the British War Cabinet. Mr. Curtin, who opposed the shift, thinks that Mr. Casey's post in Washington is more important than a seat in the central British War Cabinet.

Dorothy Thompson

Our role in this is not very agreeable, for the unfortunate import of the matter seems to be that Mr. Curtin is playing to the United States against London, and I suppose we are expected to be flattered, and Britain to be a little humiliated. The omission of the British War Cabinet to include an Australian is a compliment to Australia, and the offer to Mr. Casey, who knows the United States extremely well, seems intelligent, for it puts into the British councils a man with close American connections. This undoubtedly influenced Churchill's thinking on the matter.

Personal Note

Also, Mr. Curtin has introduced a personal and partisan note into the matter, making the quarrel appear as one between a Labor leader Prime Minister and a "Tory" Prime Minister of Britain.

On this point it should be said that Mr. Churchill has disregarded partisanship in the appointment of his government; that some of the most important posts in his cabinet are held by Labor Party men; that Sir Stafford Cripps, who has been made second in the cabinet only to Mr. Churchill and intrusted with the most important mission to India, certainly is no "Tory" but is a little to the left of the majority Labor Party.

Actually, Mr. Churchill, like President Roosevelt, has had the instinct to put himself above partisanship.

And, unfortunately, the same cannot be said of Mr. Curtin. Mr. Curtin has a majority of just one in his parliament, and yet he has never consulted his cabinet to include his opponents.

Principle

There is another question of principle involved: It appears that Mr. Churchill approached Mr. Casey directly, securing his consent, instead of asking the Australian government to appoint a member to the British War Cabinet. Mr. Curtin thinks that he should have had the sole selection of the member.

Normally, this would no doubt have been the proper protocol. But it is extremely important that the man selected should be one with whom the British Cabinet is certain it can co-operate. And in war the responsible leader must act, and not spend his time and his energies in negotiations of minor importance. So, on the whole, Mr. Curtin's clamor seems pretty small potatoes.

But at any rate, Australia, who in her history has been rather isolationist, now is crying for help. And Australia needs help. She is ill prepared for this war. Until the entrance of Japan, Australia had never introduced conscription; her war expenditures were way below the level of Canada's; her immigration policy, maintained by a labor government anxious to keep up high wages, has kept the Australian population under ten million in a continental country, and these things have all weakened her defence against the masses of Japan. With a little more foresight, and imagination, and less egotism, Australia could have been a major power in the Pacific.

No Criticism

But obviously this is no time for a criticism of past policies—for what nation, reviewing its immediate past, but can find grounds for self criticism? On the other hand this is also no time for further egotism—for the advancement of the theory that there is one point on the globe that has to be defended at all costs no matter what happens elsewhere. We are all going to win or lose together.

Mr. Curtin seems to fear that Britain, off the north west coast of Europe, is more interested in European affairs than in the Pacific and is concentrating on defending herself first.

Or, Mr. Curtin seems to fear that Britain, by sending Mr. Casey as a member of the British War Cabinet to Cairo, has in mind to forestall the juncture of Japan and Germany in the Middle East. And all this seems to be less important than the immediate defence of Australia. Actually, it is all part of the defence of Australia, as the defence of Australia is part of the total war.

And Mr. Curtin apparently thinks that if he has a very energetic representative in Washington, one with the best of contacts in American personalities and politics, and with the whole strategy of the war here, in the interests of Australia.

He Is Wrong

That is understandable too, but in this he is wrong. The United States intends to make every effort as far as Australia is concerned, no matter who is Australia's ambassador to Washington—or whether there is any at all.

For our immediate and long range interests are involved. Our relations with Australia are established on the strongest possible basis through the sending of General MacArthur there, and our relations are, for the duration, primarily military.

So the sooner this quarrel is abandoned, the better it will be for everybody concerned.

And, cheerio—this little tempest is nothing compared with what is taking place in European Axis ranks. The Rumanians are now threatening to fight the Hungarians, though both of them are supposed to be fighting Russia at the same time on behalf of Hitler. Germany is sending trouble shooters to Bucharest and Budapest. The significant thing about it would seem to be the timing—on the verge of the spring campaign.

Let's not begin to quarrel at the very moment when they begin to quarrel.

Your Opinion

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Clergy and Japs

Editor, Bulletin: According to a report in the press, the Vancouver Presbytery of the United Church of this city has gone on record that, in their judgment, certain Japanese should be permitted to serve with the defence forces of this country.

From 1919 to 1938, regardless of the warning contained in Luke 11:21, these same gentlemen consistantly maintained that, in their judgment, the disarmament of Britain was the surest method of preserving peace.

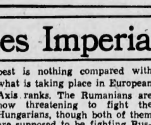

"We should set an example," was their favorite cry.

The result of our total unpreparedness to meet the attacks of aggressor nations amply testifies to the soundness of their "judgment" and as to whether or not they are competent to form a rational opinion concerning matters that involve the safety of the nation.

Drumheller Member Visits North To Find Jobs For Deserving Miners

They were talking about building a bridge across the Peace River.

"Well, I guess you can do it," said Old Timer. "But you'll find it pretty tough. Say, do you know at flood time I've seen trees swept down that river and pile up 200 feet high." (He must have had his tongue in his cheek when he said it).

"Yes, but we can do it," retorted the soldier. "You don't know the U.S. army."

"No. But I know the Peace."

This bright bit of repartee was overheard at Fort St. John this week by Gordon E. Taylor, M.L.A. for Drumheller, who left Edmonton Thursday for his home after a three-day air trip which took him as far as Fort St. John, B.C., aboard a Yukon Southern Air Transport plane.

Interviewed at the legislative buildings, Mr. Taylor explained that his tour was really a "job-hunting" trip. He said he believed there would be considerable civilian labor required on the Alaska highway project and he wanted to investigate the possibility of some of the idle mine labor at Drumheller being absorbed by the road-building program.

"While naturally no definite arrangements could be made, I was well received by officials whom I contacted and I hope there is a possibility of some seasonally unemployed men, like the Drumheller miners, being used on the highway work," he declared.

He said that about 200 Drumheller men would be ready to take road and airport construction jobs if they were available.

Part of Mr. Taylor's trip lay along the proposed route of the Alaska highway—Dawson Creek to Fort St. John. The latter point is headquarters for some of the American army engineers working on the route, he said.

What impressed him most about the gigantic task of building the Alaska highway was the spirit in which the job was being tackled by the U.S. army engineers.

SHOW FINE SPIRIT

He recalled the conversation he had heard between the old timer and the soldier at Fort St. John. "It shows that these Americans are not going to be beaten," he declared. "They'll build that bridge. They'll have a lot of trouble, we know. But they'll build it, just as the young soldier said they would."

The M.L.A. said that many of the soldiers in camp near Fort St. John had never seen snow before. "But they're well-provided for it—sheepskin coats, as well as warm sleeping bags."

While at Fort St. John Mr. Taylor, who teaches at the Cambrian school at Drumheller, addressed pupils at the northern school on the discovery of dinosaur bones in the Drumheller valley. These bones are being collected and catalogued by F. Jungling, of Ghost Pine Creek, retired farmer who has been collecting them for the past 40 years. The scholars, he said, showed great interest in the discovery of the remains of these mammoth, prehistoric creatures.

Ponoka Couple Join Forces On Same Day

PONOKA.—Going "all out" for victory, Pte. Charles Lewis and his wife, popular couple here, enlisted for service the same day. Mrs. Lewis, who was feted by several clubs before her departure, has been taken on the strength of the C.W.A.C. at Calgary. In the Ordnance Corps, Pte. Lewis is also stationed in Calgary. Prior to his enlistment he was well known in sport circles here.

Mrs. Lewis is the only daughter of W. J. Wilde of Ponoka, while Pte. Lewis is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lewis, also of Ponoka.

Colorful Figure Dies At Rimbey

RIMBEY—Well known in the district where he had farmed since 1902, Joseph Montgomery, 75, died last week after an illness of several weeks. A colorful figure, Montgomery, who was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, was well known for his fondness for horses, which he raised but never used for work.

Formerly an extensive traveller, he settled down to gardening, growing among other things tender-leaf tobacco.

Found in a weakened condition in his house, the old man was taken to hospital by a neighbor, George Cummings. His brother, William, of Vancouver, attended the funeral, which was held in Bentley United church with Rev. H. Ricker officiating.

Civic Opera Society Triumphs In Vagabond King Production

Already long, the list of triumphs registered by the Edmonton Civic Opera society was increased on Thursday night with the production at the Empire theatre of The Vagabond King. Eagerly awaited, the city premiere of this musical romance realized all expectations for it is an opera replete with martial music, appealing love songs and other numbers, and is permeated with romance and heart interest.

First produced at the Casino theatre, New York, on Sept. 21, 1925, The Vagabond King, after 17 years, is as vigorous and melodious as ever. The music by Rudolf Friml, has entered the charmed circle of the light classics.

The story, founded on Justin Huntly McCarthy's play, "If I Were King," is romantic and affords many opportunities for display of colorful scenery and costumes of the period of Louis XI.

With a vehicle admirably suited to the display of their talents, members of the opera society developed all openings.

FIRST CLASS WORK

One always looks for first class chorus singing, good singing by the principals, a splendid orchestra and capable acting from this organization. In addition, one expects new, fresh scenery and costumes. On all counts this production fully lived up to its predecessors. Some advantage would be gained if the total time occupied could be reduced.

The chorus singing was admirable and the manifold chances for making effective the expert part-writing of the talented Friml were seized enthusiastically.

In the title role, Joseph Nadeau sang and acted convincingly. His acting was more vigorous than heretofore and was free of restraint. It was his best to date, while his singing was up to standard.

Noreen Bristow, as Katherine de Vaucelles, gave a highly polished performance, both vocally and histrionically.

MEMORABLE SINGING

Her acting carried with it sincerity and conviction. Her singing of "Some Day" and, with Mr. Nadeau, "Only a Rose" and "Tomorrow," ranks with the best ever heard in local productions.

Laurier Picard as Guy Tabarie and James Richardson as Oliver le Dain carried off premier honors. They made a smooth-working team and many a hearty laugh was produced. A more expert comedy duo has yet to appear among city players.

Paul Hervieux as Louis XI played a difficult role with conviction and caught its spirit to near perfection. Gabrielle Guy as Huguette acted and sang splendidly. Jean Braschuk as Lady Mary looked and acted charmingly, but had too few vocal opportunities.

Others who acquitted themselves creditably in smaller roles were James Thomson as Rene, Richard Clift as Casin, Marie Adkisson as Margot, Nanette Stott as Isabeau, Enid Griffith as Jehanneton, Harold Fazackerly as Jehan de Loup, John Markle as Tristan, Fred Bowden as Thibault, Malcolm Clark as Captain of the Scotch Archers, Remmie Frederking as Noel, J. Merwyn Boucher as Toison d'Or, George Perring as Standard Bearer, Edith Rocque as the Queen, Dwight Robinson as the Bishop and Richard S. Ball as the Hangman.

DESERVES CREDIT

Mrs. James B. Carmichael, general musical director, has never presented a more polished performance. The Friml score, richly harmonized and expertly orchestrated, presented many instances where a conductor could develop them to garnish and embellish the general effect, or allow them to pass practically unnoticed. Mrs. Carmichael seized all opportunities for effect, with the result that the playing of the orchestra was a treat to be remembered for a long time. Her co-ordination of forces on the stage with those in the pit was an outstanding example of ability, while the effects built up by combination of chorus and orchestra were colorful and artistic.

The dramatic direction by John Rule brought out the best in the script. Henry Atack, who trained the chorus, achieved results to be expected of such an expert in his line. Marion Kinney Rouse, as ballet director, presented some effective stage pictures.

Members of the chorus were: Annette Brissette, Hilda Brown, Maidie Blackburn, Brownie Burnet, Donalda Campbell, Muriel Campbell, Florence Castor, Ruth Conroy, Olive Couper, Jean Cook, Jean de Boer, Rebecca Glockzen, Marge Gannon, Madonne Hurtubise, Betty Mason, Katherine Markle, Berangere Mercier, Veronica Nadeau, Eileen O'Sullivan, Rose Ouellet, Emilie Paradis, Eirlys Roberts, Hazel Roberts, Margot Robertson, Marjorie Ross, Margaret Smillie, Helen Trimble, Olive Thoms, Therese Vallee, Winnifred Woodward, Romeo Bouchard, Richard Ball, Sidney de Boer, Richard Clift, Robert Eby, Earl Fetherstonhaugh, Roland Huggett, Alex. Mc Intosh, Ivor Mathew, George Perring, Delbert Rogers, Offa Rogers, Dwight Robinson, Mark Riedel, Maurice Rookwood, Charles Turner, John Tyler, James Thomson, Hadley Ward, Alfred Walton, Michael urawell, Robert Janes, William Janes, Rudolph Melnychuk, Gordon McLean, Romeo Ryan, John Raragosky, Terry O'Connor, Merrill Traub.

Dancers: Nadine Burpee, Flora Reid, Marjorie Sedgwick, Muriel Taylor, Rhoda Wood.

Maple Leafs Head South Today

Edmonton Juniors Drill Hard For Series At Regina

SASKATOON, March 27—(CP)—With seven good practices under their belts, Edmonton Maple Leafs, Alberta junior hockey champions, were all ready to leave here today for Regina where they meet Regina Abbotts, Saskatchewan titlists in the first game of a best-of-five Western Canada semi-final series Saturday night.

Coach Steve Olander plans to send his Edmonton youngsters through a stiff drill this morning before entraining for the south later in the day.

Although his players had been off skates for a month as they waited for Saskatchewan to declare a winner, Olander was well pleased with the progress his men have made since they arrived here for training Monday. The coach said the players were in good physical condition when they arrived but their timing was bad. This has improved so much during the last couple of days that he figures the boys are near the peak of their form.

Saskatoon fans have been impressed with the Maple Leafs' showing in practice. The team has two better than average defence combinations, a steady goalie, and two forward lines who travel both ways and who can score goals. Tommy Hays, the club's manager and Olander rate the team stronger than the E.A.C.'s, who lost to Saskatoon Quakers in five games last spring.

For the opening game at Regina, Olander plans to start Wilber Delaney in goal with Art Michaiuk and Bud Patry and Eddie Huffman and John Dutchak alternating on defence.

Johnny Black will centre one forward line with Russ Kiesko and John Baird on the wings and Freddy Smitten will pivot the second flanked by Walt Dorohoy and Buzz Johnson. Bing Merluk is the utility forward and Doug Stevenson the spare goalie.

Terriers Make Good Start

Portage Juniors Capture First From Fort William 7-6

WINNIPEG, March 27—(CP)—Portage La Prairie Terriers, Manitoba titlists, went one game up in their best-of-five Western Canada junior hockey semi-final series by defeating Fort William Hurricane-Rangers 7-6 in the first game of the series here Thursday night.

After an opening period of close hockey, played before a crowd of 5,000, with each team sparring for an opening, Terriers came off the ice at the end of the first session with a 1-0 lead.

Play really opened up in the second with Fort William tying the count at the 43-second mark. Portage netted three in less than eight minutes on three goals by Jack McDonald, second-string wingman for the Manitobans.

Portage led 3-3 at the end of the second but Bud Poile, classy centre for Hurricanes, who counted four times, fed Bun Hayes a goalmouth pass to put the Lakehead team in the lead 6-5 at the 8:55-mark of the third.

Bill Heindl, Terrier defenceman, tied the game up less than a minute later when he soloed through the Hurricane team to give Ralph Allan, Fort William goalie, who replaced Fernand Proulx, starting netminder, no chance. Bob Love scored what proved to be the winning goal at 13:29 on a pass from Joe Bell.

Proulx was injured shortly after the start of the game when he suffered torn tendons in his leg after a scramble in front of the net. It is feared he will be out for the series.

Expect Over $50,000 For Fund

Joe Louis First Soldier In Heavyweight Title Bout

NEW YORK, March 27—(AP)—For the first time in the history of the fight game, an American soldier will fight for the heavyweight championship of the world tonight.

And for the second time in less than three months, Joe Louis (now Private J. Louis Barrow of the United States army) will defend that richest of all fistic prizes for nothing.

He will walk into Madison Square Garden's ring at 10 p.m. E.D.T. (8 p.m. M.D.T) before about 18,000 customers and proceed to operate on one Abraham Simon, a good-natured, confident 250-pound giant from Long Island, whom he chopped down in 13 rounds just about a year ago.

There should be somewhere between $125,000 and $150,000 in the till by post-time, according to communiques from Promoter Mike Jacobs' ticket office outposts, but neither Joe nor Mike will wind up with a quarter out of the pot. The chief collector will be the Army Emergency Relief Fund.

Best estimates are that some $50,000 to $60,000 will be contributed to the fund, with Louis and Jacobs kicking in their entire profits, Simon contributing a portion of his purse and the Garden splitting its share equally with the fund.

Despite Simon's fighting heart, ability to absorb punishment and a pole-like left jab, even his best friends wish him well but can't see what possible chance he has to do any more than say "good evening; it's a nice evening" to the greatest heavyweight and greatest sports figure of his era.

Abe went 13 rounds the last time and was still on his feet, although somewhat the worse for wear, when the referee said "enough" for him. This time, the roof might fall in at any moment, with the general forecast for the curtain to drop some time in the first six acts.

There hasn't been enough betting on the fight to create a market. Louis is almost any price to win and 1 to 5 to hit the jackpot before the 15 rounds run out.

Optimistic

ST. LOUIS, March 27 — (AP) — Sam Breadon, owner of St. Louis Cardinals, says the big fight in the National League this year will be between Brooklyn and Cincinnati—for second place.

Breadon was unusually optimistic about the Cardinals' chances of winning the pennant. He figures it will be a three-club race, with the Reds and Dodgers furnishing the opposition.

Leafs Come From Rear Three Times

CALGARY, March 27—(CP)—Port Arthur Bearcats and Lethbridge Maple Leafs, bidding for a berth in the western Canada senior amateur hockey final, battled to a 4-4 overtime tie here Thursday night as they opened a best-of-five series that will be continued on the same ice Saturday night.

Third game will also be played in Calgary on Monday with the fourth contest scheduled in Lethbridge next Wednesday.

Ahead three times during regulation playing time only to see Leafs come from behind on each occasion to tie the score, Bearcats were forced to rally themselves in overtime as Leafs scored a quick goal to lead for the first time in the game at 4-3.

However, Steve Wouchy, Port junior, was equal to the occasion, coming through with a solo goal while his team was shorthanded, to leave the score deadlocked.

It was Wouchy's second goal of the game, his first putting Port Arthur ahead 3-2 at the end of the second period after the team had held a 1-0 lead in the first session.

McKenzie and Wright notched the other lakehead tallies while Alex Pringle, Billy Maher, Doug Lane and Garth Boesch scored for Lethbridge.

TYING MARKER

Lane's goal on a pass from Rimstad midway through the third period tying the game at 3-3 and forcing the overtime.

A crowd of 3,443 fans watched the game.

The teams played cautious hockey in the first few minutes of the games, each feeling the other out and it wasn't until Lethbridge was shorthanded, Pete Slobodian being sent off for tripping, that the Bearcats scored. Wouchy passed to Wright through the Leaf defence and the latter gave Young no chance.

Just past the four-minute mark of the second period, Pringle knotted the score when he sank Hector Negrello's pass from a pileup in front of the Bearcats' goal.

Bill McKenzie got the lead back for the Thunder Hill champions however, after a series of end to end rushes, when he banged in Albert Kelly's cross.

MAHER FROM PRINGLE

Maher drove home Pringle's rebound two minutes later to tie the count for the second time. Russ Derieli, Port Arthur goalie, was lying on the ice a the time after having stopped Pringle's shot. In less than three minutes Wouchy sent the Arthur team ahead once more when he beat Young easily after Edgar La Prade had skated into the corner with the rubber and passed out to his team-mate.

Doug Lane got the lone goal in the third period at the nine-minute mark on a pass from Whitey Rimstad.

Then Boesch sent the Albertans ahead for the first time at 1:31 of the overtime and Wouchy evened the score at 6:52.

Brimsek Foils Desperate Hawks

BOSTON, March 27—(CP)—Boston Bruins advanced into the Stanley Cup semi-finals by defeating Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 here Thursday night in the deciding game of their best-of-three series. Boston won the first game in Chicago last Sunday, 2-1 in overtime, Chicago taking the second encounter 4-0 here Tuesday night.

Sensational exhibition of goal-tending by Frank (Zero) Brimsek enabled Bruins to win last night before a crowd of 15,000 at the Boston Garden.

By employing their effective bore-checking tactics, the Black Hawks kept terrific pressure on Brimsek from start to finish but he managed to kick out all but two of the 32 shots made on him during the 60 minutes.

Meanwhile the Bruins managed to break out of their own zone only often enough to challenge Sam Lo Presti 17 times but that goalie missed a pair of shots aimed by Gordie Bruce and a five-footer that was backhanded home by Jack McGill.

The latter's tally was the "clincher" and Jack made it during the ninth minute of second-period play when he stole the puck from Bill Thoms, wheeled and slapped it past Lo Presti.

Late in the opener, Bruce converted a 50-foot pass from Jack Shewchuk for the Bruins' first tally and that rookie centre turned on the red light again by combining with Dutch Hiller and captain Jack Crawford after 48 seconds of second-period action.

Max Bentley got the first Hawk goal, with Mush March and Joe Cooper assisting. The second Chicago goal was scored by Bill Mosienko.

The Boston-Detroit series, a best of three game affair, opens here Sunday night.

CANADIENS WILT IN THIRD PERIOD

DETROIT, March 27—(CP)—Detroit Red Wings moved into the Stanley Cup semi-finals Thursday by routing Montreal Canadiens 6-2 in the deciding game of their best of three series before 10,005 fans.

Detroit, cup finalists last year, will meet Boston Bruins, defending champions, in a best-of-three series to determine the opponent for the winner of the Toronto Maple Leaf-New York Rangers series.

Four final period goals, two by Carl Liscombe and one each by Joe Carveth and Modere (Mud) Bruneteau turned into a route what, until then, was anybody's game.

Rookie Jimmy Haggarty of Canadiens got the first goal of the game in the second period. Bruneteau replied for Detroit although officials first had ruled Syd Howe had scored.

Abel sent the Red Wings ahead to stay 23 seconds before the second period closed.

WATER is Good Whisky's perfect companion
A good companion allows a friend to express himself freely. That is why water is the perfect companion of good whisky. It allows whisky to tell its own story.
The Seagram Canadian Whiskies are distilled, aged and blended to meet the water test. They are of such exquisite flavour that men who know good whiskies refuse to mix with them anything other than plain or sparkling water.
It is this delightful and exclusive smoothness that has caused the Seagram whiskies to outsell all others on the American continent.

Airport Annex Plans Are Now In Preparation

Plans for the $85,000 administration building to be erected this summer at the Edmonton airport are being prepared as rapidly as possible, John Martland, city architect, stated Friday. It is anticipated that tenders on the project will be called within the next three weeks.

Mr. Martland and Max C. Dewar, assistant city architect, are working nights and at week-ends rushing the plans to completion.

The building will be of two storeys with control tower. It will be 207 feet long by 36 feet wide, and will be of concrete, frame and stucco construction. The building will be 43 feet high to the tip of the control tower.

On the ground floor there will be a rotunda, rising for the height of the two storeys. It will be 36½ feet long by 37 feet wide, and will house the Trans-Canada Airlines general and operational offices, the customs and post office offices, a lunch room, kitchen and the usual comfort offices.

On the second floor the offices of the airport manager will be located, as will be the radio range office, teletype room, weather forecast room and meteorological services, and an observers' room. The Canadian Pacific Airlines operational offices will be located on this floor also.

The basement will house the usual heating equipment, a power vault, workshop and an emergency generator.

Debunker

When I was a child, I was told that turning the hands backwards on a clock would ruin the clock. One day, when no one was at home, I tried it, and to my surprise, the clock seemed not to mind it at all. Later, a jeweler and clockmaker told me that there was nothing to the idea about turning the hands backwards. I have questioned other watchmakers since then and they all have told me the same thing. Clocks which strike are exceptions.

Plans City Visit

Canadian organizer of the C.I.O. packing house workers' organization, Fred Dowling, will arrive in Edmonton shortly to undertake the organization of a packing plant workers' union here. The Butchers' and Meat Packers' Federal Union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, was formed here several months ago, the organizing being done by Carl E. Berg, special representative of the Trades Congress of Canada, who is returning to Edmonton at the week-end following a business tour in eastern Canada.

Through The Mill

A young man with a high respect for an Edmonton doctor but not much respect for a city driving regulation, appeared in court on Friday. He made a long trip to see a certain doctor. He made a short trip afterward that got him into difficulty.

He came up from Cutknife, Sask., to see a doctor; so his story goes. The doctor found him O.K. He decided to celebrate the occasion.

* * *

The merrymaking dragged on to the early hours of Friday morning. At 4:30 a.m. a member of the city police force saw a light delivery truck weaving its way in snake-like fashion along Jasper's west end.

* * *

The truck came to a stop at Jasper and 115 street. The police came along a few moments later. The door was opened and the driver came down to the hard pavement like a "ton of bricks".

* * *

He was out cold. The night-long celebrating finally overcame him. He knew enough to pull into the curb, but he didn't know that the keen eyes of the law had already seen his feeble attempt at "going places."

* * *

He pleaded guilty. He admitted his mistake. He got 14 days at the Fort, and will have to get along without his driver's license for another ten weeks after he gets out. The doctor's advice was O.K. but his own decision to celebrate the doctor's decision was rather costly.

Alaska Highway Benefits Industry

Construction of the Alaska highway will open up many potential fields of industry for Edmonton, Leonard E. Drummond, secretary-manager of the Alberta and North West Chamber of mines, told Edmonton Rotarians at their regular weekly meeting at the Macdonald hotel, Thursday.

Mr. Drummond, spoke on "What Northern Development Will Mean to Edmonton." He supplemented his talk with references to a map of the great Northwest, indicating the present routes by air, land, water, and the mining areas already producing.

SEVEN MINES WORKING

Seven gold mines are now producing more than $4,000,000 worth of gold per year, and the surface is barely scratched, Mr. Drummond stated.

He announced that the Eldorado mines will be reopened shortly to produce radium, uranium, oxide, silver, copper, bismuth and cobalt.

He dealt generally with the locations of the many different ores and their natural products, already found and in some instances developed, in the Northwest.

One of the most promising areas at the present time is the Beaulieu district with Yellowknife as its center, Mr. Drummond stated.

Other areas are the Athabasca to Slave Lake district, Great Bear Lake district, and the district north of Cameron Bay.

The step was ordered March 25 by the army and navy high commands "with a view to increasing the effectiveness of anti-submarine warfare along our coasts," a naval communique said.

In line with the order, army defence commanders have assigned army air units to the naval officers commanding the sea frontiers.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

This is the fifth of a series of six articles on the correct response to the opening lead.

In whist there was a maxim, "Never signal with a queen." For example, if at a trump contract the opening lead was the king of a side suit, the leader's partner was not supposed to drop the queen from Q-x, even though he could ruff the third round. This rule was based on the fact that with no hand exposed, the players had to count on the possibility that the ruff would be too costly in one way or another.

In auction bridge days, the writers generally agreed that the old whist rule did not apply. The sight of dummy usually will indicate when it is safe to signal with a queen and when it is not.

Nevertheless, there is a sound tendency to avoid signalling with the queen from Q-x, in order to reserve the play of the queen to show the jack. The importance of this practice is shown in today's hand.

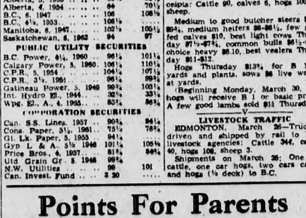

When North sees the dummy, he realizes that the declarer probably can win at least five spades and four hearts. One trick in clubs would be enough for the contract. The defense will have to hurry for its tricks in clubs, if any, before declarer gets out of trumps, sets up the hearts and discards his clubs on dummy's suit.

If South has the ace of clubs, there is no rush, since North can lead a club when he is in with the king of hearts. But if South has the club king instead of the ace, North must get in a club lead through East before his heart king is forced out. North would like to win the second diamond trick. If he does not do something drastic, South will lay down the ace and the chance will be gone.

North therefore plays the queen of diamonds on the king. As I have said, the tendency among experienced players is to reserve this response to show the jack, for just such situations. South now underleads the diamond ace to put North in with the jack. North's club return spikes the declarer's guns.

Points For Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Grandson: "Grandfather, here's the dime I borrowed from you."

Grandfather: "Thank you, Bill. I see you're a good business man—you pay your debts promptly."

Mother: "But, Grandfather, I want son to pay back money he borrows."

Grandfather: "Tut-tut! Can't I have the pleasure of giving my own grandson a dime if I want to?"

Grandparents, as well as parents, should be more concerned about the lessons children are learning than they are in satisfying their own feelings.

Alexander Draws Sentence Suspend

Pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor truck without the owner's consent H. T. Alexander, former civic employee, was given a one year suspension of sentence by Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie in supreme court Thursday.

Earlier in the week a supreme court jury found Alexander not guilty on counts of dangerous driving and failing to return to the scene of an accident. The charges arose out of an accident on Whyte Avenue near the Mill Creek bridge on November 15 last in which L.-Cpl. Kenneth Duggan and his wife, Mrs. Mabel Duggan, received serious injuries.

Alexander had been charged with theft of a city truck, but this charge was changed to "operating without consent of the owner" when the case was called Thursday.

V

Found guilty in supreme court Friday by Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie on a charge of indecent assault Lawrence Charylonuik, Edmonton, was ordered to pay a fine of $50, or in default serve three months in jail.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain has warned that 1942 will be a year of tribulation. Canada must be prepared for a direct thrust. Indications are that the treacherous Japs, thirsty for conquest following their unbelievable triumphs of the south-western Pacific area, might fall upon Russia and attempt to join up with Hitler's forces.

Should this happen, Canada can hardly expect to escape direct participation.

There are many other possibilities, any of which might happen in a war that has seen so many unbelievable things actually come to pass.

DEFEND YOUR OWN

Therefore, every man, young and old, must be prepared to defend himself, his wife, his mother, his children, his brothers and sisters, his home, his job.

Time is on the side of he who makes the best use of it. There is still time to receive training before any Axis blow falls. Organized defence will stop the invader. Unorganized resistance has proved readily collapsible.

Petrol Park, 2nd Corps Troops, is one of the units that will help you readily collapsible.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION:

Opposition springing up in certain quarters against releasing Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King from his "no conscription for overseas" promise, prompted the Inquiring Reporter to seek opinion on whether or not the "affirmative vote" supporters would be successful in the April 27 plebiscite.

THE ANSWERS:

LEN LORDON, salesman: Strong anti-conscriptionists have been active for sometime, and active organization in support of the "negative vote" was started long before parliament passed the measure authorizing the plebiscite. It is doubtful that those who want Canada to continue to play with the idea of war while the destiny of this country and other free nations is in the balance the "affirmative voters" must stage a "total vote" campaign between now and the date of the plebiscite.

* * *

KENNETH THOMPSON, clerk: Leaders of all political parties in Canada have a great duty to perform in combatting the influence of those who wish to keep Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his colleagues bound by an outdated promise not to introduce conscription of manpower for overseas. If this is not done there is a possibility that the "negative vote" might prevail.

* * *

HARRY JONES, carpenter and returned soldier: I am sure that the affirmative vote will be successful, but to insure success, the most careful organization plans must be adopted, and special care given to the getting out of the rural vote. The vote is being taken at a time when farmers will be working on the land. Country roads may be difficult to traverse, and the gasoline rationing will be making itself felt about that date.

Three Comely Murphy Sisters

Sign As Cooks With Air Force

By JACK DELONG

Too many cooks may spoil Hitler's broth. And when the name of the cooks is Murphy and they are all determined looking young ladies of Irish descent, then the broth being prepared for Hitler is sure to be pretty hot stuff.

What we are leading up to is an announcement of the fact that three members of the Murphy family, living at Rochester, Alta., are now signed up as cooks in the women's division of the R.C.A.F.

Irene, 19, and Rita, 20, of the fighting Murphys were busy signing up as cooks with the air force Thursday under the direction of Section Officer Winnifred Kirk.

A third sister, Molly, is already on duty at the Clarenholme R.C.A.F. training station. She also is a cook

BORN HERE

The Murphy sisters were born in Edmonton and attended school here. They went to the farm to live a short time ago.

But farming is pretty tame with a big war on. First the eldest sister, Molly, joined up in December.

She must have written glowing letters home to the "kid" sisters concerning life in the air force. At any rate they made application to join up on January 16 last.

Then came a long, tedious wait for the letters of acceptance.

Twice a week the plucky young women walked 10 miles to the post office in Rochester and back to their farm home.

On Monday of this week the weary vigil ended with the long-awaited letters arriving. No time was wasted by Irene and Rita in getting to the city and No. 3 recruiting headquarters.

"TOP" ALSO SERVED

"I guess we take after dad. He served in the last war, enlisting with the 138th Battalion of Edmonton," Irene said.

"We learned to cook on the farm, and we felt we could help a lot at the same work in the air force," they smiled.

The girls are thrilled over the prospect of leaving for Toronto in about two weeks.

Their mother and father were both born in England although of Irish descent.

There are four girls and four boys in the family. The three girls in the air force are the eldest.

Rochester is about 60 miles northwest of Edmonton.

First Enlisted Member Women's Division, R.C.A.F. Posted Here

First enlisted member of the women's division of the R.C.A.F. to join the staff of No. 3 recruiting station here, assumed her duties on Thursday.

She is Airwoman 2 Mary A. B. Bott of Montreal.

An attractive brunette with brown eyes, Airwoman Bott is serving as an assistant to the medical clerk in the offices where medical examinations are made of women recruits.

She is already a veteran in point of service, having served at No. 13 S.F.T.S. at St. Hubert, Quebec. She spent four weeks at the training centre of the women's division at Havergal College, Toronto.

She is pleased with her work at the recruiting centre here but says; "I'll miss all the girls at the flying service school terribly."

One of her biggest thrills while at St. Hubert was a ride in a Harvard training plane with an R.C.A.F. instructor.

It is expected that several more enlisted airwomen will be assigned to duties at the recruiting station here as they complete training in the east.

These will release R.C.A.F. male clerks and stenographers for other duties.

Flames Damage Two Autos In Service Garage

Flames originating from a gasoline explosion damaged two cars, some mechanical equipment and the interior of a motor service room at the Acro Service Station, 11052 101 street, Friday afternoon.

The explosion occurred when a mechanic was draining the gasoline out of a car belonging to Joe Jackson. He had the car in the motor tuner's end of the room and was preparing it for a check-over.

Fumes from the flowing gasoline are believed to have ignited from heat radiating from a heater some distance away.

BADLY DAMAGED

Jackson's car, as well as another car belonging to Harry Bradbury, standing nearby, were badly damaged by the flames that followed. The interior of the service room was also scorched, and the roof was destroyed. Some tools were also destroyed. Total damage is estimated by Tom Beechey, proprietor, at about $1,000.

Firemen from hall No. 5 responded immediately and doused the flames before they had an opportunity to spread to other rooms of the service building.

Children were reported to have been playing nearby and are suspected to have tamperid with the switch. No damage was done.

Ellerslie Man Draws Sentences Of 165 Months

Found guilty of breaking and entering on six occasions and theft on 10 others, Vernon Bergstrom, Ellerslie, was sentenced to a total of 165 months imprisonment when he appeared before Police Magistrate A. L. Millar, K.C., Thursday afternoon.

He received 18 months on each of the six breaking and entering charges and sentences ranging from three months to one year on the theft charges. All sentences are to run concurrently.

Bergstrom, and an accomplice, were arrested at the coast and brought here for trial.

REGULAR PRACTICE

They made it a daily practice to drop in by night at farm homes to pick up anything that might be at hand. They lifted everything according to evidence from hogs, poultry, and horse hair to sewing machines and carpenter's tools. Most of the work was done during May, 1941.

The 10 thefts and four of the six shop breaking incidents occurred along the Edmonton-Calgary highway between Ellerslie and Wetaskiwin. One theft was reported in the Camrose area. The accused entered the Winterburn Community hall and a farm home near Stony Plain as well.

He was sent to Fort Saskatchewan jail. His accomplice will appear for trial at a later date.

Mayor Is Pleased At Salvage Work

"Members of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce are doing a fine job of salvage work in Edmonton," Mayor John W. Fry stated Friday on his return from an inspection of salvage operations at the Cushing building. Mayor Fry made the inspection in company with commissioners John Hodgson and R. J. Gibb.

Salvage from all parts of the city was pouring into the building Friday morning, Mayor Fry reported, and added that "the public spirited firms that loaned trucks to the committee to haul in the salvage should be highly commended."

"The splendid results achieved by the Junior Chamber could not be possible except through the wholehearted co-operation of the general public," he added.

Edward C. Fisher, salvage director for Alberta, was also on hand at the inspection and voiced his appreciation of the work being done in Edmonton.

Getting Around

with

Jack DeLong

If you have been courageously resisting that urge to take an extra lump of sugar in that cup of coffee or tea, be of good heart. The little sacrifice is more than worth while.

Those little lumps of sweetness now go into torpedoes, bombs and shells that will taste anything but sweet to Hitler, Hirohito and Company.

The wartime prices and trades board has supplied some interesting facts about sugar. Just remember them if you're one of those sweet-toothed persons who is inclined to feel a trifle sour over the lack of sweetness.

In one hour of firing, 1,000 military field pieces will burn up as much sugar as can be refined from a sugar cane field two-thirds of a mile square.

The powder required to fill five 16-inch shells requires alcohol from as much sugar as can be refined from sugar cane grown on an acre of ground.

Bombs, torpedoes and artillery shells all consume plenty of sugar or alcohol from the sugar.

It seems at that rate that our choice is one of guns or sugar, rather than guns or butter. As a matter of fact we haven't read of any missile in which butter is the agent of destructive propulsion. Of

Dr. Anna Louise Strong Advises Allied Offensive This Spring

HITLER can be defeated soon if a co-operative offensive action is begun this spring involving the establishment of a new Allied front either in France, Norway, or in some other areas, and the close concerted action of the Allies on the sea, on land and in the air is effected." Thus spoke Dr. Anna Louise Strong, noted newspaper-woman and author, in an interview on Friday. Dr. Strong, founder and former editor of the first English paper in Russia, the Moscow News, will speak on Russia at a public meeting in the Memorial Hall, Friday evening.

"SPRING IS TIME"

"The spring is the time for the offensive," she said. She warned against waiting. A year—even months—will give the forces of Germany and Japan the time they are needing. A Japanese attack on Russia is to be expected before long, she went on. It is while Russia is on the move against Germany—while each day brings news of her success at pushing Germany back through Russia—and while Japan is not near her to attack from the other side, is the time for the offensive.

Events in the Pacific ocean will render that area unfit for offensive action for some time, she claimed. There is needed there more centralization of Allied power, fighting ships, men, and airplanes to push the Japs back. Now Europe is ripe for an offensive. No help from Japan will be coming for Germany and she will have to face it alone.

An Allied offensive can surely be successful this spring, she declared. Once Germany is defeated, Russia and the Allies can turn their attack Japan through China and the east, and defeat her.

"Russia can almost defeat Germany herself," she continued. "With the forces of all the Allies striking now, on an European front, where Germany will be attacked from both directions, a spring victory is safe to predict," she claimed.

SUCCESS OF RUSSIA

"Russia's consumer industries have never matched her defence industries. They have always been secondary, but just before the beginning of the war, their consumer production was catching up with their war industries. Before the war in 1939, Russia's power was equal to that of Germany's. Now of course, it isn't with Hitler's possession of all the fighting power in central Europe. Economically, the war is a loss to Russia. Politically it has not harmed the solidarity and determination of the people for their way of life and their own "experiment."

WOMEN IN THE WAR

"Russian women have a fighting part in this war, too," said Dr. Strong. "They are not drafted into military service, even though there have been cases where women have fought shoulder to shoulder with men. Those cases have been emergency cases, where the situation demanded it.

"They serve as fliers—ambulance and transport drivers. A great many Russian women who are surgeons are seeing front-line action in caring for the wounded right on the battle field. As streicher-bearers they convey wounded troops from the combat areas to medical quarters.

"In military quarters women serve, too, as quartermasters, messengers, telephone and radio operators, transport drivers, cooks and fill many other auxiliary offices. In one case I know of," said Dr. Strong, "where a woman doctor was in charge of a whole medical corps, the commanding officer was killed, leaving her, as next officer, in full command. She directed the whole battalion out of an encirclement and acquitted herself with as much skill and talent as a man," she said.

Dr. Strong has travelled widely in Russia, lived there for many years and written books on the political and economical life and progress of Russia.

Council Hears Child Welfare Discussed

"Women's most important work is the strengthening of community life and social well being," Miss Kathleen M. Jackson, director of family welfare work in the Council of Social Agencies, said when she addressed a meeting of the Local Council of Women in the Y.W.C.A. Thursday afternoon. Miss Jackson chose for her address, "Child Welfare."

"If it is humanly possible, during these stressing times, child and family should not be separated," said Miss Jackson. "The family is the child's world, especially in his early years. Two main types of problems threaten family life in both peace and war, emotional problems and problems of finance and economics. These can be met by a careful use of community resources, specialized as a guidance clinic or more often through the church, the school or the neighborhood group working hand in hand with the welfare bureaus.

Miss Jackson went on to say that two of the problems which a war always intensify are that of child labor and the working mother. The Creche or day nursery is working to meet the latter problem. The first can only be met by a determined effort on the part of the community to see that our children do not go out into industry unqualified to be permanent wage earners and responsible citizens.

In conclusion, Miss Jackson suggested as a project for the council, the study of the child welfare situation and possible establishment of a voluntary Children's Aid Society.

Mrs. D. S. MacKenzie presided.

"SPRING IS TIME"

"The spring is the time for the offensive," she said. She warned against waiting. A year—even months—will give the forces of Germany and Japan the time they are needing. A Japanese attack on Russia is to be expected before long, she went on. It is while Russia is on the move against Germany—while each day brings news of her success at pushing Germany back through Russia—and while Japan is not near her to attack from the other side, is the time for the offensive.

Events in the Pacific ocean will render that area unfit for offensive action for some time, she claimed. There is needed there more centralization of Allied power, fighting ships, men, and airplanes to push the Japs back. Now Europe is ripe for an offensive. No help from Japan will be coming for Germany and she will have to face it alone.

An Allied offensive can surely be successful this spring, she declared. Once Germany is defeated, Russia and the Allies can turn their attack Japan through China and the east, and defeat her.

"Russia can almost defeat Germany herself," she continued. "With the forces of all the Allies striking now, on an European front, where Germany will be attacked from both directions, a spring victory is safe to predict," she claimed.

SUCCESS OF RUSSIA

"Russia's consumer industries have never matched her defence industries. They have always been secondary, but just before the beginning of the war, their consumer production was catching up with their war industries. Before the war in 1939, Russia's power was equal to that of Germany's. Now of course, it isn't with Hitler's possession of all the fighting power in central Europe. Economically, the war is a loss to Russia. Politically it has not harmed the solidarity and determination of the people for their way of life and their own "experiment."

WOMEN IN THE WAR

"Russian women have a fighting part in this war, too," said Dr. Strong. "They are not drafted into military service, even though there have been cases where women have fought shoulder to shoulder with men. Those cases have been emergency cases, where the situation demanded it.

"They serve as fliers—ambulance and transport drivers. A great many Russian women who are surgeons are seeing front-line action in caring for the wounded right on the battle field. As streicher-bearers they convey wounded troops from the combat areas to medical quarters.

"In military quarters women serve, too, as quartermasters, messengers, telephone and radio operators, transport drivers, cooks and fill many other auxiliary offices. In one case I know of," said Dr. Strong, "where a woman doctor was in charge of a whole medical corps, the commanding officer was killed, leaving her, as next officer, in full command. She directed the whole battalion out of an encirclement and acquitted herself with as much skill and talent as a man," she said.

Dr. Strong has travelled widely in Russia, lived there for many years and written books on the political and economical life and progress of Russia.

City Couple Mark Golden Wedding Day

HALF a century ago, on March 27, 1892, in London, England, a pretty wedding service was performed that united in marriage Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Twine, now of this city.

Today, congratulations and best wishes of scores of Alberta friends are being extended to this beloved couple on the occasion of their golden wedding day.

To mark the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Twine will hold open house, at their home at 11742 89 street. It is expected that many friends will call and pay their respects to the couple.

Mrs. Twine was born in Kent, England, and Mr. Twine in London. They came to Canada in 1906, and took up residence in Edmonton in 1907. For eight months Mr. Twine resided in Lloydminster.

What To Do

What's the proper type of invitation to issue to an informal luncheon?

Answer—Either telephone your friends a couple of days in advance or write them little informal notes something as follows:

"Dear Marge:

Will you lunch with me on Wednesday the ninth, at quarter after one o'clock?

I hope you can come and am looking forward to seeing you.

Sincerely yours"

Many, many luncheons are very impromptu affairs, thought up on the spur of the moment and executed all in one day. They usually turn out to be more fun than overly-planned, worried-about affairs—so the next time you fil the urge—telephone three friends, have them to lunch, and end the afternoon with a rubber of bridge or a game of backgammon.

Waste paper totaling 2,000,000 tons annually is available for collection in England.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Bread need not be limited to toast alone. Bread in breakfast recipes can add useful food energy, be a thrifty extender of eggs (makes 1 egg do where 2 were used before), and puts extra B vitamins and iron into diet if vitamin-enriched white bread or whole-wheat bread is used. And it can help break the monotony of "same old breakfast" day after day.

Try these recipes for the bountiful Sunday breakfast:

BACON CROUTONS

Add bulk and bacon flavor (without bacon) to soft-boiled eggs or scrambled eggs by cutting slice of bread lengthwise into half-inch strips, then crosswise at half-inch intervals, making small cubes, browning in small amount of hot bacon drippings in frying pan. Just before serving, fold into scrambled eggs, or sprinkled on top of soft-boiled egg.

BREAD'N JELLY OMELET
(3 to 4 servings)

One slice enriched white bread, ¼ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten; 1 egg white, beaten stiff, 1 tablespoon jelly.

Cut slice of bread into small cubes and mix with milk until liquid is absorbed. Add salt, pepper, egg yolk and blend. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Transfer to slightly greased frying pan; make mixture cover bottom of pan evenly. Cover and cook over low heat for about 3 minutes, or until bottom of omelet has browned and top is firm. Spread jelly over top; fold omelet in half and serve at once on hot platter.

FRIED EGGS ON MEXICAN TOAST

One egg, slightly beaten; 1-3 cup tomato juice, 1 teaspoon brown sugar (optional), ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 4 slices enriched white bread, 4 eggs.

Mix beaten egg with tomato juice; add brown sugar, salt and pepper. Dip slices of enriched bread in mixture, on both sides, and brown in butter in frying pan. Transfer to hot platter. Fry 4 eggs in butter and place a fried egg on top of each slice of hot toast.

Sunday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, bacon croutons, toast, jelly, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Smoked shoulder of pork, new potatoes, new cabbage, rhubarb pie, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Bread'n jelly omelet, vegetable salad, fruit bowl, tea, milk.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Judging by the letters that so many unhappily married women write me, the chief grievances that wives have against their husbands are these: First and foremost, that their husbands take them for granted. They drop all love-making at the altar and thereafter treat their wives as if they ceased to be lady loves and became merely household conveniences. They also take their wives' sacrifices and services for granted. They accept all of their wives' devotion and hard work and penny-pinching as no more than their due and without even saying "thank you." The next thing that wives complain of is their husbands' assumption that all a woman needs to make her perfectly happy is a marriage certificate, and that, anyway, just being married to them is all the picnic that any woman could crave.

Dorothy Dix

Hence they feel under no obligation to entertain or amuse Friend Wife or do anything for her diversion, because they think she can get all the fun she wants out of sitting up at home by her lonesome watching the baby breathe.

The next thing that peeves wives is the lightfisted way in which their husbands dole out money to them.

There are, of course, exceptional husbands who are generous enough and fair enough to give their wives allowances without asking what they do with the money, but the majority of husbands still make their wives come to them like beggars for every dollar they have.

Another thing that gets on the nerves of wives is their husbands making their homes a dumping ground for all their troubles and worries, and saying to the helpless women to whom they are married all the mean things they would have liked to have said to their bosses and customers, but that they dared not say.

Another trait in husbands that causes wives to emit wails of selfpity is the habit so many men have of passing into silence as soon as they are married. In the days of courtship they were chatty and entertainer. But no sooner were they married than they were apparently stricken dumb.

And, of course, there are husbands who are acciterers, who hang up their coats on the floor and spill ashes on the rugs and who are bathroom wreckers, and husbands who never come home to meals on time, and husbands who read at the table, and husbands who getile the fate of the world at breakfast, who all make the women who married them wonder what made them do it, for the perfect husband is as much a myth as the perfect wife.

DOROTHY DIX.

A problem skin needs unceasing care and corrective home treatments. But to make it look well at a moment's notice is easily possible. Apply darker-than-skin-tone liquid powder over the throat and face. Blend very carefully. Now pat on face powder. Never use one that has a pink tone. Now press a cold compress over the powder, one of absorbent cotton wrung out in cold water. Then apply more powder. Brush eyebrows and lashes with oil. Apply a very soft shade of lipstick. No rouge. Your skin will look very well!

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

About the seventh month of baby's life his pre-natal supply of iron is virtually exhausted, and he is in special need of those foods which are rich in iron. One of the most valuable of the iron-bearing foods is egg—and this is the one chosen at about baby's fifth or sixth month to supply him with the iron he needs.

Like meat, milk and nuts, the egg is a complete protein food. It contains every essential for the development of life. Because, at this age the baby is getting a rich supply of protein from his milk formula, the white of an egg, which is almost pure protein, is not so essential. It is the egg yolk with its rich supply of minerals and its vitamin A content which is most valuable at the moment. So we serve egg yolk to him.

Eggs for infants may be prepared in various ways. Cook the egg hard, remove the yolk and pulverize it over the baby's vegetable feeding. This is a delightful and easily digested way in which to serve it. At first, of course, he must not have the whole egg yolk, just a teaspoonful of it. For, despite its value, eggs belong in the category of foods to which individuals often are allergic. We want to know what baby's reactions will be to the egg before we thrust the whole yolk upon him. A week's feeding with one teaspoon of powdered yolk should tell us accurately whether we dare offer two teaspoons and then the whole yolk at the baby's 3 p.m. meal.

A partially-cooked yolk also is a pleasant form in which to serve this food. Drop an egg into a small, deep pan of rapidly boiling water. Remove pan from the stove, cover closely and leave the egg from five to seven minutes, dependent upon its size. At the end of this time the white should be well jelled and the yolk easily removed from it.

A custard made with ¾ of a cup of milk, one tablespoon of sugar and an egg yolk can be baked in the oven (set in hot water) or cooked on top of the stove in a double boiler. Either method provides the baby with his mid-day glass of milk, plus his egg yolk.

If the inclusion of the egg in the diet causes a rash or vomiting or noticeable redness about baby's mouth, stop it and omit eggs from the diet for several months. At that time they might be tried again with the hope that any temporary allergy to them might have disappeared. If the reactions are the same, eggs may have to be omitted from baby's diet permanently.

Escape To Adventure

By Priscilla Wayne

CHAPTER XIII.

PETE'S hideaway was an interesting place. Just a one-room adobe but with wide windows, squatting high in the mountains, right on the brink of a clear, swiftly rushing stream.

It had a screened verandah that actually hung out over the stream, and as they drove up Judy could see Peter on the verandah poking away at a typewriter with two fingers on one hand and the forefinger of the other, making the keys click quite rapidly at that.

There was no mistaking that Peter was glad to see them. At sight of them he left his typewriter immediately.

"Hi, Red," he said. "Hello there Miss Ranier. Well, this is a pleasure."

Judy was off Star's back before either Peter or Red could help her. She had ridden horseback since the time she was a little girl, and she loved it.

"I've got a little errand to do," Red said. "Shorty told me that there's some strays back in Tyunga canyon. Might as well take a look myself and see who they belong to." With a wave of his hand he rode away.

MINDREADER

Peter stood grinning down at Judy. "Red's a mindreader. I suppose he couldn't have guessed but I've been thinking about you every minute since I saw you the last time, and trying to get up nerve to come over and see you, even if you did send me word not to."

"Send you word not to? Why, I've longed to have you come," Judy said, and then stopped quickly, fearing she had said too much.

"You wanted to see me when you wrote this note in answer to the letter I sent you?"

"Wrote what note?"

"Here," he handed her a perfumed correspondence card tucked into an envelope addressed to him. The card had no beginning.

It merely said, "Thank you, no, I haven't time to visit you and I'd rather you did not come over. I have my patient to attend to and I am not interested in making friends at Lost Mesa." The name signed to the note was her own, "Judith Ranier."

"But I never saw this note before. I don't know what you're talking about or what it means. If you sent me a letter asking to come over and see me, I certainly never saw it because I've been longing to see you. As a matter of fact I've been simply praying you'd come."

BERTHE HATES ME

Peter took the note back into his hand, looked closely at the fine, copperplate writing. "Berthe Dirkey must have written it. For some reason or other she hates me, and for the same reason she doesn't want me to like you."

"Oh, but she couldn't stop me from doing that," Judy said quickly.

"She couldn't?" There was a look on Peter's face that sent Judy's heart to pounding wildly.

"No, she couldn't. I liked you the first moment I saw you there at the depot in Lost Mesa."

"I liked you, too," Peter said softly, taking her hand. "Judy, I know you'll forgive me when I tell you something. All my life I've been looking for a girl like you. That minute I saw you—that very minute—I knew I had met her at last."

Afterward neither of them could quite explain how it happened, but Judith was in his arms. She had lifted her lips for his kiss.

"Do you believe in love at first sight?" Peter asked.

"I knew, too," Judy said softly, "I've known ever since that morning on the platform."

There were deep, sweet moments. Suddenly Judy remembered. "Peter, a terrible thing is happening, something you ought to know right away."

"Darling," Peter said, holding her close again, "why, darling, you're trembling!"

"I've been trembling ever since I got to that terrible place," Judy said. "But if you had been an absolute stranger, if I'd never cared to see you again for yourself, I mean, I still would have prayed for you to come back there quickly."

"Why come back there quickly? Tell me, Judy," Peter said, "Tell me what it is that has frightened you so."

MURDER

"That woman. She's trying to murder your uncle. That's what's wrong with him, Peter. Oh, believe me."

"Murder him? Judy, do you kow what you're saying? I've never liked her, I didn't want Uncle Charley to marry her; somehow I had an instant dislike to her and her daughter, but I never dreamed anything like that. Are you sure of what you're saying, Judy?"

"Sure? Of course I'm sure, Peter," Judy slipped from his arms so that she could more clearly explain to him what she meant.

"You can tell me here in my arms," Pete remonstrated. "You're nervous. You've been imagining things."

"Peter, I am not just imagining anything, I know. She admitted to me that it is poison."

"Admitted?"

"No, I wouldn't say she admitted. She told me. The very first night I was there she explained how it should give your uncle the powder.

SECRET POWDERS

"The powders are a poison discovered by Dr. Karl Krug. They cause a patient to be weary, exhausted. After a few weeks or months he dies and no one ever knows quite what has been the matter with him, not even the doctors.

"Most patients die within a couple of weeks. Your uncle must have been a very strong man. I think she's been giving him the poison for almost two months now."

"Judy, are you out of your head?" Peter held her hand anxiously. "Judy, do you realize what wildness you're talking about? I know Berthe Wenner was an unprincipled woman, a money grabber, but I never dreamed she might be a murderess."

"That's exactly what she is, but she lost her nerve. Dr. Krug sent me here—I mean he was supposed to have sent me here—because he was afraid she'd lose her nerve and stop giving the medicine and I'd be hard boiled enough to give it regularly and he could depend on me. That is, he thought he could depend on me."

"Judy darling, now I know you're ill, now I know that something has happened to you."

NOT THE GIRL

"No it hasn't, Peter, believe me I'm not the girl that Dr. Krug sent to Lost Mesa."

"Then where is the girl?"

"I don't know where the girl is. Don't you understand? I ran away—from Chicago. I was looking for a job. I just happened to get off the train there at Lost Mesa. You mistook me for the girl."

"The day I'd come to meet the nurse from the employment agency?"

"Yes, that's right. Don't you understand now? You just asked me if I was the girl from the employment agency. I wanted a job and I didn't know what to do next. Wasn't it perfectly natural that I should say yes?"

"But what happened to the girl from the employment agency? You mean she wasn't to come from an employment agency at all? Or was she? Dr. Krug sent her?"

THE WHOLE STORY

"Yes, that's the way it started out to be. But she didn't come, I came instead. But don't you understand that Berthe Dirkey thought I was that girl—Dr. Krug's sister—so the minute she saw me she started telling me the whole story."

He'll Enjoy Your Fortune-Telling

Tea-Leaf Reading Easy and Fun

My, she's fascinating! She's hit on a sure way of holding his attention—telling his fortune!

People love to learn their chances in love or luck, so if you know tea leaves, card fortunes—any kind—you make a hit.

In tea-leaf fortunes, it's all in the way the leaves group when the cup's drained. Seeing leaves grouped in watch-shape, you say to your beau, "Ah, you have a rival. In love, I wonder?"

And looking oh! so innocent, you continue: "I see a gun, too, meaning a quarrel, but here's a ring—wedding bells. And a kettle, a happy home!"

There are endless fascinating combinations in cards, it's the same way—a Seven of Diamonds, money you didn't expect; a Two of Spades, a separation; an Eight of Clubs, the love of a dark man!

Our 32-page booklet gives you meanings of tea-leaf symbols and of every card in the deck; explains secret gypsy ways of dealing cards. Also tells how to read fortunes in dominoes, the "magic crystal", dice; has horoscope for each month. Send 13c in coins for your copy of "Fun With Fortune Telling" to The Edmonton Bulletin, 60 Front Street West, Toronto, Ont. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

Please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

War Relics Show Aids Queen's Fund

What an incendiary bomb can do to a substantial London roof is graphically illustrated in some of the specimens on display at the British War Relics exhibition which will open in the Empire room of the Hudson's Bay Company store, in Edmonton, on Friday afternoon. All proceeds will go to the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims.

One of the groups includes parts of the 102-foot high roof of historic Westminster Abbey, which was damaged, in last winter's blitz. The abbey, the main building of which was started in 1220, is a magnificent and sturdy Gothic structure, the last resting place of many of the nation's great.

As evidence of the success of the R.A.F against the Nazi raiders, a Messerschmitt brought down in Kent, in November, 1940, along with bomb sights, instruments and radio panels and other equipment, is shown.

There is an exhibit in the form of a parachute worn by an Italian pilot, who was checked by a British fighter plane before he could do much damage.

A model of H.M.S. Hood, made by Lieut.-Col. E. A. Wiggs of Petawawa Camp, is another Canadian exhibit also shown. The grey paint used for it was taken from that used to repaint the Empress of Britain, also built on the way she was converted into a troop ship at Quebec in the autumn of 1939. The Hood was also in a battle with the German battleship Bismarck.

Hundreds of other relics and many war photographs comprise the exhibit.

Truck Operators Haled Into Court

Ten auto and truck operators paid a total of $65 in fines and $25 in costs when they appeared before Police Magistrate H. Hawe, Thursday afternoon. They were charged with breaches of highway regulations while operating their vehicles along the provincial highways. Two others had their charges dismissed.

Northern Alberta Dairy Pool Advances Steadily Annual Reports Show

Stability in co-operative organizations during wartime, as a prelude to withstanding the chaotic conditions of post-war rehabilitation was urged by Hon. E. C. Mapning, provincial secretary and minister of trade and industry, Thursday evening, when he addressed the annual dinner meeting of the Northern Alberta Dairy Pool Limited, in the Masonic Temple.

Other speakers at the meeting were Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of agriculture; W. D. King, deputy minister of trade and industry, as well as representative of the Southern and Central Alberta pools. Manager C. E. Christensen presided at the meeting attended by 150 producer delegates and their wives.

"Stability might well become the slogan of your organization," he said, "for co-operative groups form in our economic life a greater part than almost any other group."

LAUDS PROGRESS

The pool, he said, has overcome difficulties, and opposition, and has had to contend with an attitude of mind built up of "indifference, prejudice and ignorance". "Problems," he said, "can only be solved by people pooling their efforts and talents." He stated that stability is essential for a basis of security in "the artificial conditions of wartime," and will be more necessary for the withstanding of the chaotic conditions which will follow the close of the war.

Hon. Mr. MacMillan told the meeting that an increase of more than three million pounds had been shown in dairy products in Alberta in 1941 over the previous year. Total value of the products, he said, was more than $38,000,000.

Alberta, he said, has responded well to the appeal from Britain for increased products, as well as in aiding the national war effort.

"This province," he asserted, "has nothing to be ashamed of in any line of agriculture. It is practically a habit with us to win awards for our agricultural products."

Greater calls will be made upon farm and dairy people in the coming year, it was pointed out by the speaker. "As long as the war goes on," he declared, "we must do all we can to speed victory and to provide the needed supplies."

W. D. King, deputy minister of trade and industry, complimented the Dairy Pool on its progress during the past year.

Other speakers were E. Johnstone, manager, and R. McShane of Red Deer, president of the Central Alberta Dairy Pool. William Burns, of Two Hills, president of the Southern Alberta Dairy Pool.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR

During business sessions of the Pool, held throughout Thursday, the board of directors and management reports for the past year showed that the organization's co-operative organization had enjoyed a successful year with increases being shown in every department.

C. E. Christensen, general manager, in his report outlined the progress of the organization and pointed out the fact that increased demands on the facilities and services of the organization had necessitated provision of increased capacity in most of the plants in order to fulfill these demands and meet the requirements of the immediate future. An addition was built to the Edmonton plant for the purpose of accommodating milk drying equipment for the powdering of buttermilk and skim milk.

The butter output for the five plants of the organization was reported at 3,120,000 pounds for the year 1941. Texas plants are operated at Edmonton, Sedgewick, Wetaskiwin, Andrew and Edgerton. A successful year was also reported for the cheese plant which is operated at Thorsby.

Over 11,000 producers were reported to have marketed their dairy produce through the Northern Alberta Dairy Pool in the past year, and the steady increase in membership indicates the growing interest of producers in co-operative marketing through facilities which they own and control themselves.

Woman Officer Of Air Force Visiting Here

On a tour of western recruiting stations and air stations to instruct women medical clerks in the women's division, R.C.A.F., Nursing Sister Flt. Lt. M. Kavanagh of R. C. A. F. headquarters, Ottawa, was in Edmonton Friday.

Airwoman 2 Mary Bell, of Montreal, and another airwoman who will arrive Friday from eastern Canada to serve at the No. 3 recruiting station here, will receive instruction in their duties as medical clerks from Flt. Lt. Kavanagh.

Flt. Lt. Kavanagh is spending about three days at each recruiting centre or station where there are women's division members serving.

Independence Is Thriving District

Situated about 40 miles northwest of Edmonton, the community of Independence may be little but it does big things. Independence boasts about 10 families, and has a church, a community hall and a school.

From Independence, 10 boys have joined up, with the three Canadian forces, and there just aren't any young men of military age left in the district. Remaining to operate the farms are the older men, their wives and daughters. All the boys, trained in Canada or serving overseas, attended the Bamill school in Independence.

PO Thompson Fulton recently spent his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Fulton. His brother, Ward, is in training with the R.C.A.F. at Calgary. Another brother now left for Trenton for instructional training.

course, it can be destructive to a "curve-full" figure.

And, furthermore, it has been estimated that if every one of the three persons in Canada who use sugar in their tea or coffee stopped sweetening their drinks about 72,000 tons of sugar could be saved in this dominion every year.

And if every one in Canada reduced his or her consumption of sugar by one ounce a day, it would save 262,343,750 pounds of sugar a year.

* * *

Of course when a person starts talking up in nine figures, the average fellow is apt to lose interest. It sounds too much like federal deficits and what's a few millions more or less?

But here's a simple little figure that doesn't require elucidation:

C. J. Brown, official tea taster for Ottawa, says that teas prove a small teaspoon or lump of sugar is all that one cup of tea will absorb. The rest becomes goo in the bottom of the cup.

And the voluntary rationing system is really getting results, early reports from Ottawa state.

Everyone seems to be taking the humorous advice of a St. John, N.B. cafe owner, who has a sign in his place that reads:

"Use less sugar and stir like hell."

The word Igorots, name of natives of northern Luzon, means highlander or mountaineer.

Tuesday Set For Mopping Up Salvage

City residents living in zones already canvassed who failed to dispose of their materials to salvage depots during the day specified for their respective zones, will have an opportunity to make arrangements for shipment next Tuesday.

Zone 5, which covers the area between the St. Albert Trail and North Edmonton, north of the line along 118 avenue, Kingsway, Norwood Boulevard and Fort Trail, will be canvassed on Friday.

Zone 4, north of the river and east of 95 street, will be covered on Saturday, and Zones 7 and 8 will be canvassed on Monday. These two zones cover all of the South Side east of 109 street to Whyte avenue and east of 104 street south of Whyte avenue.

MOPPING UP DAY

Tuesday has been left as mopping-up day when citizens will be given an opportunity to arrange for calls that were not made or arranged for during the day the respective zones were canvassed.

The campaign committee stresses the desirability of making arrangements one day before the calls are to be made in order that car or truck arrangements can be made at headquarters.

The campaign is handled by members of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce who received a special charter from Ottawa to represent the city in this work.

COMMUNITY BENEFITS

Any profits that may be accrued from handling the salvage will be used for community purposes. It is impossible for any individual to receive the special charter.

Experienced handlers have been selected by federal authorities to attend to the removal of the articles from the salvage depots to the proper destinations. These handlers have to attend to baling, bundling, cutting of metal, sorting, and loading. They must stand the cost of all the above work and the cost of freight to the destination, out of the meagre margin that they may derive after making the deal with the collecting organization.

Special arrangements between national salvage officials and the railway companies have resulted in special freight rates for the salvage articles.

Citizens are assured by W. Athey, assistant to the national salvage campaign chairman, that the middlemen and organizations entrusted to handling the salvage, will do well to be able to break even in their undertaking. Their slight margins will be easily exhausted in the handling, unless extreme economy is exercised, Mr. Athey explained.

$468 YEARLY Biggest Problem Facing Agriculture Presented By Financial System

Artificial problems confronting agriculture are graver obstacles to the farmers than the natural problems, Henry G. Young, Millet farmer, told an audience at a C.C.F. meeting at the I.O.O.F. hall, 103 street, Thursday evening.

Mr. Young's address was entitled "The C.C.F. and Farm Problems." N. Finnemore, president of the local branch of the C.C.F. was in the chair.

The farmer's problem is part of the general problem of the working classes whose national income is far below the income level of the nation, Mr. Young stated.

PITIFUL INCOME

Average income of the Canadian farmer over the 11-year period, 1931 to 1941, was $468 per annum. This constituted about nine percent of the national income for 33 per cent of the population, Mr. Young stated.

This is the problem that the C.C.F. is grappling with. They are aware of the situation, basic reason for which is not the natural setbacks but the seiback due to the financial system, he said.

Crop damage caused by drought, hail, insects, frost, weeds and lack of proper soil maintenance has its effect, but much of these losses could be remunerated by a system of crop insurance.

He explained that even though insurance is being offered to farmers, their financial position is such that they cannot take advantage of it and must take the risk of loss.

BEST INSURANCE

A better price level for farm products would enable the farmers to protect themselves from the hazards of nature.

A better price level would do much more, he added. It would make it possible for the farmer to work shorter hours, to take advantage of opportunities to improve culture and education facilities.

Health services would be made more adequate, Mr. Young quoted figures indicating that even though the rural areas, are regarded as more healthful places to live from the standpoint of natural health requirements, yet the death rate in rural areas is much higher than it is in urban areas. The reason is the lack of proper preventive facilities and lack of adequate hygienic conveniences, Mr. Young said.

"Alberta's farm debt is about $305,000,000. and the underlying cause for it is the profit system under which we live," Mr. Young stated. "This debt represents to a large measure the profits paid to eastern interests in excess profits and interest."

Debt adjustments do not even begin to grapple with the situation. They don't even adjust them sufficiently to attend to the interests that grow, he stated.

The income has to be raised by bringing the price of wheat at least to $1.10 per bushel, at Fort William, before the farmers will be able to meet merely the interest on their present debts, Mr. Young remarked.

This financial picture is convincing enough to make one realize that the real cause of the situation must be removed. A parity price due to a non-profit system of finance is essential, Mr. Young said in conclusion.

Petrol Park Seeks Recruits Home Defence

to obtain essential training, to act with others to good purpose.

Youths between 17 and 19 years of age with medical Categories A, B, or C are eligible but men between the ages of 35 and 50 are particularly wanted, with medical categories A, B or C. Also young men between the ages of 19 and 35 with C medical categories only.

This Company was organized on August 12, 1940 under Major W. A. deGraves, D.S.O., and Captain G. S. Crossley, 2nd in command. In November, 1940, Major de Graves was appointed officer commanding of the 1st Army Tank Brigade, R.C.A.S.C., and at the same time two of the original offers also joined this tank brigade namely Lieutenants Anderson, Swanson, Campbell, Hunter and Rennie. Since the inception of Petrol Park, out of a total strength of 478, 211 have joined the active forces and 11 officers including the five who enlisted with Major de Graves.

Maj. de Graves, prior to enlisting, was managing editor of The Bulletin. In the First Great War he won the Distinguished Service Order during the battle for Cambrai.

The function of the Petrol Park, which is for the supplying of gasoline, is to keep the highly mechanized army in the field on the move. Also it has to be able to function as a supply and ammunition company if necessary. All the above training will be given to the new recruits. Immediately the recruit is enlisted and is given his medical examination, attested and sworn in he will be issued with full uniform, web equipment, steel helmet and a respirator. A number of qualified officers and N.C.Os who have passed the different garrison schools and are well equipped to instruct on how to handle the 30-06 rifle, bayonet practice also in respirator and gas drill are on the strength.

HIGHLY MECHANIZED

The Petrol Park on active service is a highly mechanized unit and it is very necessary that the unit have qualified mechanics for the different workshops. At the present time there are some men in the unit who are especially qualified to lecture on the set-up and organization of the mechanical end of this company.

Every man in the medical categories A, B or C between the ages mentioned should be interested in joining some reserve unit and in the event of their being needed, they would know how to conduct themselves and have some idea of war tactics. In Australia today they are calling men up to 60 years of age for front line duty and Edmontonians surely must realize that Canada, especially B.C. and Alberta, are coming close to the front line. Any new recruits are assured that they will be given training that will hold their interest, as the unit now has equipment such as 30-06 rifles, Bren and Lewis guns. Also, there is the first aid and other numerous training duties not mentioned.

HOW TO JOIN

Anybody interested in joining the Petrol Park company should report to Room 36, Prince of Wales armory, between 8 and 10 o'clock, in the evening, or phone the commanding officer at his office, telephone number 24636.

In April, 1941, this unit organized a Bugle Band under Band Sergeant-Major Dennis Clayton which has been a credit to the organization and when on any route marches a band always helps out.

There is also a chance for advancement and promotion for those who adapt themselves and take advantage of the different garrison schools.

OFFICER STRENGTH

The officers of the unit at the present time are as follows: Officer Commanding, Capt. G. S. Crossley; second in command, Capt. T. W. Cogland, M.C.; acting Capt. A. C. Woodman, Lieut. J. C. Hutchison, M.C., Second Lieut. R. A. Maunders, Second Lieut. J. M. Meikle, Second Lieut. R. Barnes, Second Lieut. P. J. Comey.

The area commandant has now allotted this unit a definite area in this city which it will be our duty to defend and this coming summer this is where most of our training and time will be spent on the defence of this area.

Plans Ready For Manpower Drive

It is full speed ahead with Canada's plans for the mobilization of man and woman power of the dominion, and there was evidence in Edmonton Friday that these plans were completed and ready for implementation long before Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King made his announcement in the House of Commons Wednesday.

In several offices visited representatives of the Unemployment Insurance Commission here were found delivering bundles of registration forms and discussing the registration regulations with company officials.
